I just spoke to Dane Linn, head of NGA's Education Policy Division. Dane invited the Governor to participate in the opening panel of NGA's upcoming Education Policy Insitute, which will be held at the Ritz Carlton in Marina del Rey, CA, April 4-6. Governors' education advisors attend this institute and this year's institute will focus on turning around low performing schools.

The opening panel will be held from 10:15 – 11:30 a.m. on Friday, April 4. The panel is entitled "Advice from Veteran Governor/Advisory Team." Governors will discuss how they have built strong working relationships to develop and implement state education policies.

According to Dane, Governors Patton, Kempthorne and Rowland are scheduled to attend. Governor Musgrove is co-lead education governor with Governor Rowland. Dane hopes Governor Davis will attend, but doesn't know at this point.

I told Dane that scheduling was meeting today and that I'd get this to you, hopefully, in time for it to be discussed. It looks like the Governor has some tentative events on the calendar that morning, with other events that afternoon.

Let me know if you need anything else. Thanks!
