China

The Chinese government has enacted new regulations allowing domestic and foreign companies to establish joint ventures to target this, the world's largest mobile phone market. However, investors continue to complain about an over-complex, lengthy and capricious government approval process. International

The Council of Europe has drafted a Hate Speech Protocol which provides that an ISP must intend to distribute racist material to be held criminally liable. It is unclear, however, whether notice plus failure to block or take down the material would constitute intent.
