Governor's Job Fair Offers Opportunities in Yazoo City Area

(Jackson, MS) – The Governor's Job Fair Network visited Yazoo City Tuesday, and nearly 200 jobs were offered as a result of the effort to bring together employers and job-seekers, said Governor Ronnie Musgrove.

“The Job Fair is an excellent opportunity for employers to meet directly with Mississippians looking for work, and we have been tremendously pleased with the results of the fairs around the state,” Musgrove said. “People are getting jobs in the midst of a national recession, and that is a strong sign that we're doing the right things in Mississippi.”

A total of 28 employers participated in the Governor's Job Fair, with 289 interviews conducted on-site. By the end of the day, 195 Mississippians left the event with a job offer.

Under Musgrove's leadership, more than 53,000 jobs have been created at over 2,200 new and expanded facilities. Total capital investments over the past three years total nearly $15 billion.
