Gov. Henry, Gov. Musgrove Make Friendly Wager On Cotton Bowl Game

Oklahoma City – As Oklahoma State University and the University of Mississippi prepare for their match-up in the SBC Cotton Bowl Classic, Oklahoma Governor Brad Henry and Mississippi Governor Ronnie Musgrove are making a friendly wager on the Jan. 2 bowl game.

The triumphant team will bring music to the ears of the winning governor. In the unlikely event that the Ole Miss Rebels prevail in Dallas, Gov. Henry will fork over CDs from such famed Oklahoma recording artists as Toby Keith, Garth Brooks, Vince Gill and Leona Mitchell. If the OSU Cowboys win, Gov. Musgrove will be sending discs from notable homegrown Mississippians like Elvis Presley, Faith Hill and B.B. King.

“It’s only fitting that Gov. Musgrove will have to pony up with an Elvis Presley CD, since Ole Miss is certain to be ‘All Shook Up’ by the time OSU finishes with them,” Gov. Henry said.

“At least this wager will give my good friend, Gov. Musgrove, the opportunity to sing along to the Toby Keith song, ‘Should’ve Been a Cowboy.’ Ole Miss is an excellent team, but I have complete faith in Coach Miles and his Cowboys.”

Gov. Musgrove said he, too, looks forward to the big game.

“I, too, look forward to the game,” he said

Both teams finished the season with a 9-3 record.
