

For more than 30 years, Fred Rogers entertained children in Mississippi and across the nation. With his gentle manner and easy style, he taught us all a great deal about ourselves and the world around us. He set a new standard for early childhood education, and helped us to realize its true value to our children. Mr. Rogers is gone, but those of us who lived and learned in his neighborhood will always remember him fondly.