

"Obviously as a parent, I am greatly concerned about the articles. This is definitely not what we want to promote for our children. In fact, we continue to spend time (or efforts) on the abstinence campaign and the prevention of unwanted pregnancy. Giving our children the tools they need for a bright future is the best gift we can give as leaders and as parents."