

Statement from Governor Ronnie Musgrove:

“The mission of the Gaming Commission demands people with experience and a willingness to serve. In fact, the statute specifically says the commission will be composed of the ‘most qualified persons available.’

“Howard Sanders fits that description. Throughout his career, he has demonstrated his abilities and talents, and I’m confident he’ll put those abilities and talents to good use as a commissioner.

“That said, people who come to me seeking the job of commissioner aren’t the ones I want. I’m looking for Mississippians who are willing to give of their time, talent and energy to ensuring the gaming industry continues to operate in a manner of integrity and safety for the citizens of our state.”
