

- On behalf of Governor Musgrove, let me say thank you to the other members of the Coalition for Academic Excellence. Our coalition is another examples of a great partnership working together to advance Mississippi and to improve the quality of life for its citizens
- Thank you for your support through your attendance today.
- It is so very important that Mississippians are aware of and support the need for higher academic standards for our students.
- Right now you are being given a toolkit containing print, radio and TV public service announcements developed by The Ad Council. We hope you will run these PSAs and use them to help improve education in our state.
