and the Charter of Incorporation of the said Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company, particularly the said Section 3 thereof, as amended by the said amendment, particularly the said Section 4 thereof, be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows, to-wit:-

"Section 3-4. (a) The capital stock of the Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company shall be One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), all of which is hereby authorized and designated as common capital stock, divided into shares of an equal par value of not less than Twenty Five Dollars ($25.00) each, and not exceeding an equal par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each. This Corporation may commence business when the full amount of the said capital stock has been subscribed and paid in. The stockholders shall not be liable for any amount exceeding the unpaid portion of the par value of the stock subscribed by them respectively. This Corporation shall have a lien upon the stock for any debt due to it by the subscriber or holder thereof. In addition to the said common capital stock, preferred capital stock in the amount of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($150,000.00), or such part thereof as the Corporation may require or desire, is hereby authorized and may be issued in the manner and form and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set out, without further amendment of the Charter of the Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company.

(b) The authorized common capital stock of this Corporation, amounting to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), may, as required by reorganization or recapitalization, be restored or maintained by reducing the then equal par value of the shares of common capital stock to such equal par value as may be necessary and simultaneously restoring the resulting deficiency between the aggregate amount of the shares of said stock at such reduced equal par value and the authorized common capital stock of the Corporation by issuing and selling an appropriate number of shares of the common capital stock of such equal par value as may be required. In particular, the Corporation may reduce its present outstanding common capital stock from $100,000.00 to $25,000.00 aggregate par value by the reduction of the per share par value of said common capital stock from $100.00 to $25.00, and simultaneously with said reduction issue and sell 3,000 shares of new common stock of the par value of $25.00 per share. With the reduction of the equal par value of the shares of common capital stock and the simultaneous restoration of the resulting deficiency caused thereby, as hereinabove provided for, the shares of common capital stock evidenced by the stock certificates outstanding at the time of such reduction and restoration shall be thereupon hereby reduced in the hands of the holder or holders thereof to such equal par value as may be fixed hereunder, and such outstanding stock certificates shall be forthwith surrendered to the Corporation and cancelled in exchange for certificates evidencing the same number of shares of common capital stock of the said reduced equal par value. So long as any of the Debentures are outstanding, the Bank will not, without the written consent of the registered holders of at least two thirds in principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding, authorize or issue any additional Debentures of other Debentures or capital notes of incur any other indebtedness except indebtedness incurred in the ordinary course of business and payable on demand, or not later than one year from the date of the incurring of such indebtedness.

2. Current interest due only if earned,- Until the Debentures shall become and be due and payable, whether at maturity, or by declaration or call for redemption, or otherwise, no interest shall become or be due and payable upon the Debentures unless and except to the extent that, as provided in Section 5 hereof, the net profits of the Bank accruing after the date of the Debentures shall suffice for such payment: Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent payments of or on account of such interest from any funds of the Bank, if the Board of Directors of the Bank so determines, provided that the sum of-

(a) The aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding,
(b) The aggregate principal amount of all indebtedness of the Bank at the time outstanding, if any, subordianted to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest, and
(c) The then unimpaired capital, surplus, and undivded profits of the Bank exceeds $306,250 by an amount at least equal to the interest proposed to be paid.

3. Determination of net profits,- The net profits (or net loss) of the Bank shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30, by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period.

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period except interest on the Debentures and on indebtedness, if any, subordinated to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest.
(c) All losses realized during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets for the period and such transfers for the period to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits, or surplus) as in each case may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and unrealized losses, including all charge-offs, write-downs, and transfers to reserves requested during the period by the State authority exercising supervision over the Bank;
(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Bank paid or payable by the Bank for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such rights as the Bank may have to recover the same;

Upon the request (contained in one or more instruments of substantially similar tenor) of the registered holders of at least twenty-five per cent in aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding, the Bank will permit the duly authorized representatives of such holders to examine all records of the Bank for the purpose of verifying the determination of the net profits (or net loss) of the Bank for any such period.

4. Unpaid interest to accrue,- Interest on the Debentures shall accrue from the date thereof, so that, if and to the extent that interest on any Debenture from such date at the full rate specified above, whether or not due and payable under the provisions of section 5 hereof, shall not have been paid (interest so unpaid to any given date, accrued from day to day, being herein termed "accrued and unpaid interest"), such accrued and unpaid interest, shall in any event become and be due and payable on such Debenture (or any portion of the principal amount thereof) whenever such Debenture (or such portion) shall become or be due and payable, whether at maturity, or by declaration or call for redemption, or otherwise.

5. Application of net profits and payment of interest,- As long as any of the Debentures are outstanding, the Bank on each February 1 and August 1 shall apply its net profits for the six-months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority, and not otherwise:

First: To the payment of accrued and unpaid interest on the Debentures to and including such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

Second: To the payment into the sinking fund for the retirement of the Debentures (referred to in section 7 hereof) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; Provided, however, That the aggregate sum so paid into such sinking fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate amount of Debentures at any time outstanding, whether or not any such Debentures shall have been subsequently retired, or the aggregate amount thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided, further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Bank, by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the sinking fund for the retirement of Debentures except from such net profits as may accrue and be earned from and after December 31, 1935; and Third: To such other purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors of the Bank, subject, however, to the provisions of sections 6, 9 and 10 hereof.

Whenever on any February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, net profits are applicable, in accordance with the foregoing rpovisions of this section 5, to the payment of interest on the Debentures, interest on the Debentures at the time outstanding shall thereupon become and be due and payable, ratably, in an aggregate amount equal (in order to facilitate the calculation of the interest payments due on the respective Debentures) to the largest multiple of a sum equivalent to one fourth of one percent of the principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding which does not exceed the net profits applicable to the payment of such interest as aforesaid. Any fractional amount of net profits applicable to the payment of interest on the Debentures, but not becoming due and payable, by reason of the foregoing calculation, on any interest payment date, shall be carried forward and added to that portion of the net profits which is applicable to the payment of such interest on succeeding interest payment dates.

6. Limitations on retirement of debentures,- No Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) shall be called for redemption or purchased by the Bank unless the sum of-

(a) The aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding, including the Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) proposed to be redeemed or purchased,

(b) The aggregate principal amount of all indebtedness of the Bank at the time outstanding, if any, subordinated to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest, and,

(c) The then unimpaired capital, surplus, and undivided profits of the Bank, and the sinking fund provided for herein, exceeds one seventh of the amount of the average deposit liability of the Bank for the preceding twelve-month period, by an amount at least equal to the redemption or purchase price of the Debentures proposed to be redeemed or purchased, or unless such redemption or purchase shall have been approved by the State authority exercising supervision over the Bank. No Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) shall be called for redemption or purchased unless all accrued and unpaid interest to the interest payment date next preceding the date of such redemption or purchase shall have been paid on all the Debentures at the time outstanding.

7. Redemption by purchase,- Subject to the provisions of section 6 hereof, whenever the balance in the sinking fund for the retirement of the Debentures shall amount to as much as $3,000 the Bank shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the sinking fund for the redemption of Debentures by call as provided in section 8 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all registered holders of the Debentures at their respective addresses as shown on the Debentures' transfer register maintained by the Bank, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase of Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof, each such portion to be One Hundred Dollars or a multiple thereof) at the lowest prices (not in excess of principal amount plus accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days the Bank shall apply such balance to the purchase of Debentures (or portions of the principal amount thereof), if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 6 hereof, the Bank shall call for redemption, in the manner provided in section 8 hereof, the largest principal amount of debentures which can be redeemed from the balance in such sinking fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase of Debentures as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such sinking fund the amount necessary to effect such redemption. Subject to the provisions of section 6 hereof, the Bank at any time and from time to time may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the sinking fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) purchased by the Bank, whether from the sinking fund or otherwise, shall be canceled forthwith and no new debentures or other obligations shall be issued in exchange or substitution therefor, except, that, in case of the purchase of a portion of the principal amount of a debenture, a new Debenture for a principal amount equal to the unpurchased principal amount shall be issued without charge.

8. Redemption by call,- Subject to the provisions of section 6 hereof, the bank may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of its Board of Directors, redeem the outstanding Debentures as a whole, or from time to time in part, by paying therefor a redemption price equal to the principal amount of the Debentures called for redemption plus all accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the date of such redemption. If less than all of the outstanding Debentures are to be redeemed, the Debentures (or portions of principal amounts thereof, each such portion to be One Hundred Dollars or a multiple thereof) so to be redeemed shall be determined by lot by the Bank. At least thirty days' prior written notice of every such redemption, stating the redemption date and the redemption price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first class postage prepaid, to the registered holder of each Debenture designated for redemption, at the address of such holder as shown on the debenture transfer register maintained by the Bank. Such notice having been mailed, the Debentures (or portions of principal amounts thereof) so called for redemption shall become due and payable on the redemption date at the redemption price, and from and after such redemption date (unless the Bank shall default in payment of the redemption price) such Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) shall cease to bear interest and shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding for any purpose except to entitle the registered holders thereof to payment of the redemption price. Payment of such redemption price (without interest) shall be made to the registered holder of each Debenture called for redemption upon surrender, on or after the redemption date, at the place designated in such notice, of such Debenture in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case of default in the payment of the redemption price of any Debenture, interest shall continue to accrue thereon as herein provided. All Debentures (or portions of the principal amounts thereof) redeemed and paid as aforesaid shall be canceled forthwith and no new Debentures or other obligations shall be issued in exchange or substitution therefor, except that in case of the redemption of a portion of the principal amount of Debentures, a new Debenture for a principal amount equal to the unredeemed principal amount shall be issued without charge.

9. Retirement of subordinated indebtedness and of stock,- So long as any of the Debentures are outstanding, the Bank will not purchase or otherwise acquire or make any payment on account of the principal of any of its indebtedness which is subordinated to the Debentures as to the payment of principal and interest, and will not purchase or otherwise acquire or retire any shares of its capital stock of any class, or reduce the aggregate par value thereof, without the consent in writing of the registered holders of a majority in aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding.

10. Interest on subordinated indebtedness; dividends,- So long as any of the Debentures are outstanding, the bank will not-

(a) Make any payment on account of interest on its indebtedness, if any, subordinated to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest; or

(b) Declare, set aside, or pay any dividend, or order or make any distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, on any shares of its capital stock of any class, unless all accumulated and unpaid interest on the Debentures to and including the next preceding February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, shall have been paid in full, and unless interest to the next succeeding February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, at the full rate specified above, shall have been set aside for payment on such date.

11. Subordination,- The obligations of the Bank evidenced by the Debentures shall be junior and subordinate to all obligations of the Bank to its depositors and all other creditors (except the owners or holders of indebtedness subordinated to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest) in that no payment of principal of or interest on any of the Debentures shall be made if, after giving effect to such payment, the aggregate fair value of all assets of the Bank would be less than the aggregate of its liabilities, excluding, however, from such liabilities the Debentures, any indebtedness subordinated as aforesaid, surplus, undivided profits, and capital stock of any class.

12. Liquidation,- In case of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Bank, whether voluntary or involuntary, all depositors and other creditors of the Bank (except the owners or holders of indebtedness subordinated to the Debentures as to payment of principal and interest) shall be entitled to be paid in full before any payment shall be made on account of principal of or interest on the Debentures. After payment in full of all sums owing to such depositors and creditors, the registered holders of the Debentures at the time outstanding shall be entitled to be paid ratably, according to the aggregate principal amount of the Debentures held by them, respectively, from all the remaining assets of the Bank (including the proceeds of all assessments, penalties, judgments, and other charges against the holders of capital stock of the Bank of any class), until payment of the principal amount of such Debentures, plus accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the date of payment, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise, shall be made on account of any indebtedness subordinated as aforesaid, or on account of any capital stock of the Bank of any class.

13. Default,- In case one or more of the following events shall occur, namely, in case-

(a) Default shall be made in the payment of any interest on any of the Debentures when and as the same shall become due and payable pursuant to the provisions of sections 2 and 5 hereof, or otherwise, and such default shall continue for thirty days; or

(b) Default shall be made in the payment of the principal of any of the Debentures when and as the same shall become due and payable, at maturity, or by declaration or call for redemption, or otherwise; or

(c) Default shall be made in the due observance or performance of any other of the covenants or agreements on the part of the Bank contained herein, and the Bank shall not remedy such default within thirty days after receipt of written notice (contained in one or more instruments of substantially similar tenor) from the registered holders of at least ten per cent in aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding; or

(d) The Bank shall become insolvent, or any receiver, conservator, liquidating agent, or governmental authority shall be appointed for or take possession or charge of the Bank or its business or assets, or the Bank shall make any assignment for the benefit of its creditors, or suspend payment of its obligations; or

(e) Default shall be made in the due observance or performance of any of the covenants and agreements on the part of the Bank contained in section 14 hereof; then and in any such case the registered holders of at least twenty-five per cent in aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding by written notice (contained in one or more instruments of substantially similar tenor) to the Bank, may declare the principal of all the Debentures at the time outstanding to be forthwith due and payable, and thereupon such Debentures shall immediately become and be due and payable, together with all accrued and unpaid interest thereon. In case at any time after such declaration and before the date of maturity of the Debentures, all accrued and unpaid interest upon all the Debentures, together with interest on overdue interest, so far as may be lawful, at the rate of six percent per annum, and the reasonable costs and expenses of the holders of the Debentures incurred in enforcing or protecting their rights hereunder, shall be paid by the Bank, and all other defaults hereunder shall have been cured, then and in such case such declaration and its consequences may be rescinded and annulled by like notice to the Bank from the registered holders of at least a majority in aggregate principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding; but no such rescission or annulment shall extend to or affect any subsequent default or impair any right with respect thereto.

14. Other restrictions,- If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent in principal amount of the Debentures at the time outstanding-

(a) The Bank shall fail to earn sufficient net profits (as defined in section 3 hereof) to permit the payment on February 1 or August 1 of any year of the semiannual interest on all Debentures outstanding (as provided in section 5 hereof); or

(b) Shall fail to earn sufficient net profits (as defined in section 3 hereof) to permit the payment of February 1, 1937, and annually on each February 1 thereafter into the sinking fund for the retirement of Debentures (referred to in section 5 hereof), a sum equal to five per cent of the maximum principal amount of the Debentures at any time outstanding whether or not any such Debentures shall have been subsequently redeemed or the aggregate principal amount thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever, provided that the Bank shall be given credit on each February 1 for the payment, if any, into said sinking fund made on the prior August 1; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the Bank, as determined by an examination of the Bank by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year, if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the latest examination of the Bank by the Superintendent of Banks of the State or by the District Federal Reserve Bank, if the Bank is a member thereof, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities including all capital stock and Debentures and indebtedness subordinated thereto, if any, outstanding; or

(d) The Bank shall be in default in the due observance or performance of any covenant, agreement, or condition on the part of the Bank contained herein or contained in the application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (together with any exhibits annexed thereto) for the purchase of Debentures, then after written notice from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the Bank of the existence of any of the conditions in this section 14 provided for so long as any of said conditions shall continue-

(1) The Bank shall not pay to any of its officers, directors, or employees compensation at rates exceeding such maximum limitations as may from time to time be prescribed in writing by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; or

(2) If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be of the opinion that the best interests of the Bank will be served by the removal of any director or executive officer and shall so notify the Bank in writing, then such director or executive officer shall be removed from the office within thirty days after receipt by the Bank of such notice. (The Bank shall be deemed to have complied with this subsection (2) with respect to the removal of directors if it takes all action within its lawful power and all other action which may be requested by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to effect such removal, and if such director shall not be re-elected at the expiration of his term of office or at any other time, without the written consent of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation); or

(3) The Bank shall not acquire or lease for a period longer than one year for its own use, any real estate without the written consent of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

15. Transferability,- This Debenture is transferable only by the registered holder hereof in person, or by duly authorized attorney, on the Debenture transfer register of the Bank, upon surrender and cancellation of this Debenture properly stamped for transfer, if required, and upon any such transfer a new registered Debenture for the same aggregate principal amount will be issued without charge to the transferee in exchange therefor. The Bank may deem and treat the person in whose name this Debenture is registered as the absolute owner hereof for all purposes.

Superintendent of Banks,
Jackson.

I, J. S. Love, Superintendent of Banks, do hereby certify that I did on the 23rd day of July, 1934 cause an examination to be made of the condition of the Pickens Bank of Pickens, Mississippi.

This examination shows the said bank to be in a solvent condition and its affairs and records are being conducted and kept in a satisfactory manner. The attached application for an amendment to its charter is hereby approved.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State Banking Department this the 30th day of July, 1934.

J. S. Love,
(Seal) Superintendent of Banks.

Amendments to Charter of Incorporation
Pickens Bank, of Pickens, Holmes County, Mississippi.

Resolved First, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $25,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $10,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction $15,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the corporation of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, substandard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Charter of Incorporation be amended by adding the following:

Article 9. "The board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five or more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, fifth, that the Charter of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 4. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $25,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100.00 each; and

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 4) divided into 150 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.--The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.--The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after July 30th, 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semiannually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after August 1, 1934, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on Common stock.--Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 and 9 of this Article 4 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount of the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.--For the purpose of this Article 4, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all chargeoffs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such rights as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available forthe dividendx and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.--As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 4) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits), provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $25,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.--Subject to the provisions of Section 7 of this Article 4, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in Section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.--Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value threof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares, From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof, as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law --

(a) The capital stock of the corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pur-

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage, prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), the, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the ten current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article , any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.
