7. The purpose for which it is created is to own, lease, rent, operate and maintain public cotton gins, buy and sell cotton seed, and buy and sell cotton, co-operatively for its stockholders and members, and to do and perform any and all other acts and things necessary or expedient to carry out and further the purpose and business of the corporation, and in carrying out the purposes for which it is created.

The rights, powers and privileges that may be exercised by this corporation, in addition to the foregoing, and to those hereinafter mentioned, are those conferred by Article 2 of Chapter 99 of the Mississippi Code of 1930, and this amendment is adopted under and by virtue of Section 4121, of the Mississippi Code of 1930.

8. At the close of each fiscal year, the net earnings of the corporation shall be ascertained, and, after having created proper and adequate reserves for depreciation, losses and contingencies, and said net earnings shall have been reduced to money, the same shall be paid out and distributed as follows:

A dividend of six per centum and no more, shall then be declared and paid upon the stock outstanding to the holders thereof, and the balance of such net earnings, if any, shall then be distributed and paid to the stockholders and members in proportion to the total weight of all cotton and cotton seed from the bales of cotton ginned by them, respectively, at the gins of the corporation during the fiscal year next preceding, but not in proportion to the amount of capital stock owned by such stockholders respectively.

9. Membership in this corporation may be extended to producers of cotton, without ownership of any share or shares of stock therein, upon application therefor made in writing, and subject to the approval and contract requirements imposed by the by-laws of this corporation.

Proposed Amendment

To

The Charter of Incorporation of the G and M Cash Stores provided that the said charter be so amended that the same shall permit the issuance of fifty (50) shares of preferred stock of the value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per share, and nine hundred (90) shares of preferred stock at Five Dollars ($5.00) per share.

From Minute Book No. 1.

BE IT REMEMBERED, that on this the 3rd day of December, 1934, the stockholders of The G. and M Cash Stores of Jackson, Mississippi, met pursuant to notices to the stockholders of said corporation for a call meeting to be held in the offices of said corporation at the corner of Griffith and Farish Streets in the City of Jackson at 8 o'clock P. M.

Which said notices so mailed to the stockholders of said corporation were as follows, to-wit:

Jackson, Mississippi

November 26th, 1934

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS OF THE G AND M CASH STORES.

Dear Sir:

You will take notice that a call meeting of the stockholders of the G. and M. Cash Stores is to be called to meet in a special meeting to be held at the main offices in Store No. 1 at the corner of Griffith and Farish Streets in the City of Jackson on December 3rd, 1934.

The purpose of said meeting is for the consideration and passage of necessary resolutions providing for the amendment of paragraph 5 of the Charter of said corporation, providing that the said corporation may issue fifty (50) Shares of Capital Stock of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per Share and nine hundred (900) Shares of the Preferred Stock at Five Dollars ($5.00) per Share.

E. V. Gurman, President.

BE IT REMEMBERED that on this the 3rd day of December, 1934, the stockholders of the G and M Cash Stores of Jackson met pursuant to notices to stockholders of said corporation under date of November 26th, 1934, for a call meeting of said stockholders to be held in the main office of the said corporation in Store No. 1 at the corner of Griffith and Farish Streets at 8 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of considering and passing a resolution providing for a change of paragraph 5 of the Charter of said corporation, wherein it is sought to provide for the issuance of fifty (50) Shares of the Preferred Stock of said corporation of the value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per share, and nine hundred (900) Shares of the Preferred Stock of said corporation of the par value of Five Dollars ($5.00) per Share.

There being present and presiding E. V. Gurman, President, and E. B. Gurman, Vice-President and Treasurer, and E. M. Jones, Secretary.

The said E. V. Gurman owning 235 Shares of the Preferred Stock in said corporation, and the said E. B. Gurman owning 235 Shares of the Preferred Stock of the said corporation, and the said E. M. Jones owning 20 Shares of the Preferred Stock of said corporation.

Upon motion duly made by E. M. Jones that the said Charter to said corporation be amended so that paragraph 5 of the original Charter of the said corporation be amended so that the number of Shares for each class and par value thereof be as follows:

"There shall be fifty (50) Shares of the Preferred Stock in said corporation of the Value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per Share, and there shall be nine hundred (900) Shares of the Preferred Stock of said corporation of the value of Five Dollars ($5.00) per Share."

The motion, having been duly seconded by E. B. Gurman, was submitted to a "Yea" and "Nay" vote, whereupon it was unanimously voted that the motion do carry providing for the amendment to said Charter as above set out, providing for the issuance of Fifty Shares (50) of the Preferred Stock of said corporation of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per Share, and for the issuance of nine hundred (900) Shares of the Preferred Stock of the said corporation to be of the par value of Five Dollars ($5.00) per Share.

Upon motion duly made by E. B. Gurman, duly seconded by E. M. Jones, which said motion upon a "Yea" and "Nay" vote duly carried, the President of said corporation was authorized and empowered to employ an attorney to prepare the necessary papers in order to have the amendment to said Charter effected and recorded as amended according to law.

Upon motion duly made and seconded the meeting was ordered to adjourn.

December 13th, 1934.

I, E. V. Gurman, President of the G and M Cash Stores, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing resolution is a true and correct copy of said resolution as adopted by the stockholders of said corporation in a regular call meeting duly called according to law, and held on December 3rd, 1934, as appears on Minute Book of said corporation.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

RICHTON BANK & TRUST COMPANY
(Name of Bank)RICHTON
(City)PERRY
(County)MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock "A" and the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock "B" under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the corporation $37,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred stock "A", $10,000.00 is preferred stock "B", and $12,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

_____. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.-- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $28,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

- (a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock "A" (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 600 shares of the par value of $25.00 each 1, and
- (b) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock "B" (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $25.00 each 1, and
- (c) $3,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of Section 5 of this Article _____,) divided into 120 shares of the par value of $25.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock. -- The holders of preferred stock "A" and the holders of preferred stock "B" shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock "A".-- The holders of preferred stock "A", in preference to the holders of preferred stock "B" and common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of this Article _____) accruing after _____, 1934, 2 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 3, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this Section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock "A" shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock "A", the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the preferred stock "B" or the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock "A" shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on preferred stock "B".-- Subject to the provisions of Section 3 and 7 of this Article _____, the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of this Article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date, cash dividends thereon at the rate of 5% 4. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 3, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rate or rates per annum required by this Section 4 to be paid on the preferred stock "B" shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividends or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock "B" shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(5) Dividends on common stock.-- Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" are outstanding, be declared, ordered, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of this Article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of such preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" or the preferred stock "B" so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the Superintendent of Banks.

(6) Determination of net profits.--- For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or not loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendents of Banks" of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
 (b) All interest accrued during such period;
 (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, individual profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the amount of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this Section 6, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(7) Application of net profits.--- (a) As long as any shares of preferred stock "A" are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(1) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock "A" accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(2) To the payment into the preferred stock "A" retirement fund (referred to in Section 9 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock "A" retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever, provided further, however, that, unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock "A" retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

(3) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock "B" accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be; and

(4) Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____.

(b) After all shares of preferred stock "A" shall have been retired, and as long as any shares of preferred stock "B" are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply such net profits to the following purposes and in the following order of priority, and not otherwise:

(1) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock "B" accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(2) To the payment into the preferred stock "B" retirement fund (referred to in Section 9 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock "B" retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "B" at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; and

(3) Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____.

(8) Limitations on retirement of stock. -- Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $31,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock

"B" shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all then outstanding shares of preferred stock of the class to be retired. So long as any shares of preferred stock "A" are outstanding, the Corporation shall not call or purchase for retirement any shares of preferred stock "B".

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 ⁷, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock "A" by call, as provided in Section 10 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock "A" at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for ~~the~~ retirement of preferred stock "A" at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A", if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in Section 10 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock "A" which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A" as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement; provided, however, that the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law. Whenever the balance in the preferred stock "B" retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 ⁷, such balance shall be used for the retirement of preferred stock "B" by purchase or call in the manner herein provided for the retirement of preferred stock "A". Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____, at any time, and from time to time, the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from the surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock "A" retirement fund or (after all shares of preferred stock "A" shall have been retired) to the preferred stock "B" retirement fund, as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement funds or otherwise, shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Retirement of preferred stock by call. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election, as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B", or both, as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this Section 10 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days' prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such share (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(11) Increase or decrease of capital stock; amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law --

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time, and from time to time, through issuing additional shares of preferred stock "A", preferred stock "B", and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that

(1) No vote of the holders of preferred stock "A" shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of preferred stock "B" and/or common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock "A";

(2) No vote of the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock "A" and/or preferred stock "B";

(3) No vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of Section 5 of this Article _____, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock "A" and/or preferred stock "B";

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time, and from time to time, to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B";

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time, and from time to time, in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock "A", preferred stock "B", and common stock so long as any shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" remain outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect;

Provided, however, That, if, and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock "A" and/or of the preferred stock "B" are increased in accordance with the provisions of Section 13 or 14 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h), inclusive, of this Section 11 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(12) Preemptive rights. -- In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(13) Voting rights. -- (a) Except as otherwise provided in Sections 11 and 14 of this Article _____ and in this Section 13, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock "B" shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from date of issuance of the preferred stock "B") then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock "B" shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock "B" for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock "B" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and the holders of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to such increased number of votes on all matters as will maintain the proportionate voting power of the preferred stock "A" and the preferred stock "B" in the same proportions as would have existed in the absence of such increase in the number of the votes to which the holders of preferred stock "B" are entitled, and each holder of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock "A" shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock "A") then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock "A" shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock "A" for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of preferred stock "B" (whether or not the votes of the preferred stock "B" shall have been increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this Section 13) and of common stock, as classes, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(e) At any time while the votes of preferred stock "A" and/or of the preferred stock "B" are increased as provided in paragraphs (c) or (d) of this Section 13 or in sub-paragraph (2) of Section 14 of this Article _____, any one or more of the Directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(14) Other voting rights. -- If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding --

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two- semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock "A" (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock "A"), or

(b) The amount paid into the preferred stock "A" retirement fund (referred to in Section 9 of this Article _____) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock, outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation --- Then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance

Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All Directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding;

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer, or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office, (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of preferred stock "B" (whether or not the votes of the preferred stock "B" shall have been increased as provided in paragraph (c) of Section 13 of this Article _____) and of common stock, as classes, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled;

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 57, Laws of 1934;

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(15) Rights of preferred stock "A" on liquidation. In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise, shall be made to the holders of preferred stock "B" or common stock, the holders of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payments; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this Section 15.

(16) Rights of preferred stock "B" on liquidation. Subject to the provisions of Section 15 of this Article _____, in the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise, shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this Section 16.

_____. (a) Officers. -- The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of Section 14 of Article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors. -- The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

_____. Special meetings of shareholders. -- Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED FOURTH, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock "A" and/or preferred stock "B" in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED FIFTH, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock "A" and preferred stock "B" at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation

Be It Resolved:- 1. That the Charter of Incorporation of the BANK OF BROOKHAVEN (whose name was thereafter amended and changed to BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY), duly approved by the Governor of the State of Mississippi upon December 21st, 1900, particularly section 3, 4 and 6 thereof, and the Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the BANK OF BROOKHAVEN (by which, among other things, its name was then amended and changed to BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY), duly approved by the Governor of the State of Mississippi upon February 14th, 1907, particularly Sections 4, 5 and 7 thereof, and the Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, duly approved by the Governor of the State of Mississippi upon January 18th, 1934, particularly Section 3-4 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) thereof, and the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, as amended, be hereby further amended as follows, to-wit:-

RESOLVED, FOREMOST, that the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, as amended, is hereby further amended by striking out Sections 3, 4 and 6 of the said Charter of Incorporation of the BANK OF BROOKHAVEN (whose name was thereafter amended and changed to BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY), by striking out Sections 4, 5 and 7 of the said Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the BANK OF BROOKHAVEN (by which, among other things, its name was then amended and changed to BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY), and by striking out the said Section 3-4 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) of the said Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, and inserting in the place of the said Sections 3, 4 and 6, and the said Sections 4, 5 and 7, and the said Section 3-4 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), the following, and by adding the Amendments hereinafter embraced in Paragraphs RESOLVED, FIRST, SECOND, THIRD, FOURTH and FIFTH hereof, to-wit:-

"Section 3-4. (a) The capital stock of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY shall be One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), all of which is hereby authorized and designated as common capital stock, which shall be divided into shares of an equal par value of not less than Five Dollars ($5.00) and not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each (and shall be in all respects the common stock hereinafter more particularly provided for in Section 5-6 of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6). This Corporation may commence business when the full amount of the said common capital stock has been subscribed and paid. The stockholders shall not be liable for any amount exceeding the unpaid portion of the par value of the stock subscribed by them respectively. This Corporation shall have a lien upon the stock for any debt due to it by the subscriber or holder thereof. In addition to the said common capital stock, preferred capital stock in the amount of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($150,000.00) is hereby authorized (being the amount of preferred capital stock heretofore authorized by the Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation approved by the Governor of the State of Mississippi upon January 18th, 1934, which said stock, or any part thereof, has not been heretofore issued), and the said preferred capital stock hereby authorized shall be divided into shares of an equal par value of not less than Five Dollars ($5.00) and not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each and shall be in all respects the preferred stock hereinafter more particularly provided for in Section 5-6 of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6).

"(b) To the end that Section 5-6 of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6 shall be herein and hereby complied with, as to the common stock provided for therein, the common capital stock of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY shall continue, as to amount, number of shares, and the par value thereof, as heretofore, to be the said amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), divided into 4,000 shares of the par value of $25.00 each, and the present outstanding 4,000 shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the par value of $25.00 each are hereby fixed, established and designated as, and are in all respects hereby made, without further action by the Corporation, that class of common stock, of the par value of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), divided into 4,000 shares of the par value of $25.00 each, prescribed and required by the said Section 5-6, particularly sub-section (1) (b) thereof, and with all such preferences, privileges, voting rights, restrictions, limitations, qualifications, and other rights, as are prescribed and provided for the common stock by the said Section 5-6, and the said shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the par value of $25.00 each for which stock certificates have been heretofore issued in exchange for certificates formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the former par value of $100.00 each, together with the said shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the par value of $25.00 each for which stock certificates formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the former par value of $100.00 each have not been surrendered to the Corporation in exchange for stock certificates evidencing the same number of shares of the common capital stock of the par value of $25.00 each, shall, without further action by the Corporation, represent and evidence the shares of that class of common stock, of the amount, number of shares, and par value, respectively, prescribed and required by the said Section 5-6, particularly the said sub-section (1) (b) thereof, and as and when any stock certificate or certificates formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the former par value of $100.00 per share are hereafter surrendered to the Corporation, the Corporation shall thereupon issue a stock certificate or certificates in exchange therefor evidencing the same number of shares of the common capital stock of the par value of $25.00 each, and ~~that~~ of that class and par value of common stock prescribed and required by the said Section 5-6, particularly the said sub-section (1) (b) thereof. In addition to action heretofore taken by the Corporation, which is hereby continued to that end, each stock certificate formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the former par value of $100.00 per share is hereby required to be surrendered to the Corporation and cancelled in exchange for a certificate or certificates evidencing the same number of shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the par value of $25.00 each, and in addition to action heretofore taken by the Corporation, which is hereby continued to that end, any stock certificate or certificates not yet surrendered to the Corporation and cancelled in exchange, as required, formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the former par value of $100.00 per share shall nevertheless represent, and evidence only, the same number of shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the par value of $25.00 per share, as heretofore fixed under the Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation approved by the Governor of the State of Mississippi upon January 18th, 1934, shall be of that class of common stock prescribed and required by the said Section 5-6, particularly the said sub-section (1) (b) thereof, and shall have such preferences, privileges, voting rights, restrictions, limitations, qualifications, and other rights, as are prescribed and provided for the common stock by the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6; however, each stock certificate formerly evidencing former shares of the common capital stock of the Corporation of the former par value of $100.00 per share is hereby required to be surrendered to the Corporation and cancelled in exchange for a proper certificate or certificates, as aforesaid.

"(c) After the authorized preferred capital stock of the Corporation has been issued, and after it has been retired as provided for in Section 5-6 of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6, the authorized common capital stock of the Corporation may, from time to time, as required by reorganization or recapitalization, be reduced or maintained by reducing the then equal par value of the shares of common capital stock to such equal par value as may be necessary, provided that such reduced par value shall not be less than five ($5.00) per share, and simultaneously restoring the resulting deficiency between the aggregate amount of the shares of said stock at such reduced par value and the authorized common capital stock by issuing and selling an equal number of shares of the common capital stock of such equal par value as may be required. With the reduction of the equal par value of the shares of common capital stock and the simultaneous restoration of the resulting deficiency caused thereby, as hereinabove provided for, the shares of common capital stock evidenced by the stock certificates outstanding at the time of such reduction and restoration shall be thereupon hereby reduced in the hands of the holder or holders thereof to such equal par value as may be fixed hereunder, and such outstanding stock certificates shall be forthwith surrendered to the Corporation and cancelled in exchange for certificates evidencing the same number of shares of common capital stock of the said reduced equal par value. As to such outstanding stock certificates which may not be surrendered and cancelled in exchange, as herein above provided for, the holder or holders thereof shall nevertheless be in all respects entitled only to the rights and benefits and subject to the liabilities of the number of shares of common capital stock evidenced by such certificates or certificates at the reduced equal par value fixed hereunder.

"(d) If at any time the common capital stock of the Corporation is declared impaired by any person, agent, or supervisory authority thereunto duly authorized by the laws of the United States or the Laws of the State of Mississippi, present or future, and demand is duly made to restore the impairments of said stock, the holders of the common capital stock of the Corporation shall in proportion to the number of shares owned by them thereupon forthwith restore the common capital stock upon the full basis of its par value, as required, and any and every stockholder who refuses forthwith to restore the common capital stock or any part thereof in proportion to the number of shares owned by him or them, upon the full basis of the par value of said stock, as required, shall be thereupon hereby required forthwith to surrender to the Corporation and cancel the number of shares owned by him or them or such number of shares as to which such holder or holders refuse to restore upon the full basis of its par value, and thereupon any holder or holders of the common capital stock of the Corporation desiring forthwith to restore the require proportion of the impairments of said stock may do so, and if any holder or holders refusing to restore the said stock or any part thereof in proportion to the number of shares owned likewise refuse to surrender and cancel the number of shares as to which such holder or holders are in default, as hereinabove required, the said shares of stock as to which such holder or holders are in default shall be thereupon in all respects hereby surrendered and cancelled, although the stock certificate or certificates therefor remain in his or their possession, and the holder or holders restoring the said stock as authorized hereunder shall be thereupon hereby entitled to the common capital stock as to which the holder or holders refuse to restore the full basis of its par value and shall be thereupon hereby vested with the legal title to said stock and all of the rights and privileges incident thereto, and shall be thereupon hereby subject to the liabilities incident to said stock, and shall be entitled to a stock certificate or certificates from the Corporation in evidence thereof and such certificate or certificates shall be duly issued.

"(e) This Corporation may participate in and obtain any or all of the benefits afforded by The National Bank Act, as amended, and any and all other Acts and Laws relating thereto, and any and all amendments thereof, present and future, and may take steps and assume, issue and discharge such obligations and liabilities as may be legally required in connection with such benefits, and under The National Bank Act, and any and all amendments thereof, and any and all Acts and Laws relating thereto, this Corporation may obtain funds for capital purposes, and in addition to any and all other rights or benefits to which it may be entitled thereunder this Corporation may sell, execute and deliver its capital notes or debentures in the aggregate principal amount of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($150,000.00), or such part thereof as the Corporation may require or desire, either--

A. To the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in such manner and form and upon such terms and conditions as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may require or as may be necessary, particularly upon the conditions that the holders thereof shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, obligations or engagements of this Corporation, and that neither the said capital notes or debentures nor the holders thereof, shall be subjects to assessments or liabilities to restore impairments in the capital of this Corporation or otherwise; or

B. To any other person or persons, corporation or corporations, agency or agencies, whatsoever, and in such manner and form and upon such terms and conditions as may be necessary.

"(f) This Corporation may participate in and obtain any or all of the benefits afforded by the Act of the Congress of the United States designated as the 'Banking Act of 1933', and any and all Acts and Laws relating thereto, and any and all amendments thereof, present and future, particularly that part of the 'Banking Act of 1933' providing for deposit insurance with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and to that end this Corporation may, as required, purchase stock in the said Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation of such classes and in such amounts and may take such other steps and assume and discharge such obligations and liabilities as may be legally required thereunder.

"(g) This Corporation may participate in and obtain any ~~and~~ or all of the benefits afforded to a banking corporation by any and all other laws of the United States, and/or any and all laws of the State of Mississippi, both those now in existence and those which may be hereafter enacted, and any and all amendments thereof, and may take such steps and assume, issue and discharge such obligations and liabilities as may be legally required in connection therewith, and provided it may be legally done, and whenever it may be legally done, either under existing laws or laws which may be hereafter enacted, this Corporation may issue stock of such classes, in such amounts, and in such manner and form and upon such terms and conditions as may be authorized and provided for under the laws of the United States, and/or under any and all laws of the State of Mississippi, both those now in existence and those which may be hereafter enacted, and any and all amendments thereof, and may take such steps and assume and discharge such obligations and liabilities as may be necessary to that end. This Corporation may engage in the general business of banking, as now and from time to time authorized and provided by law, may engage in any special banking business incidental thereto, and may engage in any other business beneficial to its banking interests not in violation of the Laws of the United States or the Laws of the State of Mississippi."

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $150,000.00 by the issuance of $150,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Chapter 146, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $250,000.00, of which $150,000.00 is preferred and $100,000.00 is common stock, and that references hereinafter made in Section 5-6 of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation as hereinafter amended by the addition of the said Section 5-6, to Senate Bill No. 227, Chapter 146, Laws of 1934, and any part thereof, mean, and shall be construed to mean, the said Senate Bill No. 227, Chapter 146, General Laws of the State of Mississippi of 1934.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, as amended, be hereby further amended by adding thereto, immediately following Paragraph RESOLVED, FOREMOST, hereof, that is, Section 3-4 thereof, the following, to-wit:-

"Section 4-5. Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of stockholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all stockholders are at the time entitled. A Majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Charter of Incorporation of the BROOKHAVEN BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, as amended, be hereby further amended by adding thereto, immediately following Paragraph RESOLVED, SECOND, hereof, that is, Section 4-5 thereof, the following, to-wit:-

"Section 5-6. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $250,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $150,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 5000 shares of the par value of $30.00 each; and

(b) $100,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of sub-section 4 of this Section 5-6) divided into 4000 shares of the par value of $25.00 each.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}) accruing after ~~DECEMBER 19, 1934~~ ^{DECEMBER 19, 1934} (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after ~~February 1, 1935~~ ^{February 1, 1935}, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section ~~to be paid on the preferred stock~~ shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6} would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) ^{pro rata to the holders of common stock.}

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock;
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending ~~June 30, 1935~~ ^{June 30, 1935} shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed ~~$270,000.00~~ ^{$270,000.00} by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as ~~$3,000.00~~ ^{$3,000.00}, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6} in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- These ~~Articles of Incorporation~~ ^{Articles of Incorporation} may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6} and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, ^{OR STATE COMPTROLLER.}

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6} and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the holders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this ~~Section 5-6~~ ^{Section 5-6}) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its ~~Articles of Incorporation~~ ^{Articles of Incorporation}, and as hereby amended, then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue.

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks or State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly nor indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Chapter 146, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment: provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation, as amended, and as hereby amended, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this sub-section 14.

"Section 6-7. (a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of sub-section 13 of Section 5-6 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation, as amended, and as hereby amended, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of the Charter of Incorporation of the Corporation, as amended, and as hereby amended.

"Section 7-8. Special meetings of stockholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the stockholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all stockholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing."

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each stockholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors, through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price, (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

2. That the above and foregoing amendments to the Charter of Incorporation of the Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company shall be in full force and effect from and after due compliance with the provisions of Section 9 of Senate Bill No. 227, Chapter 146, General Laws of the State of Mississippi of 1934, except as to Paragraphs RESOLVED FOURTH and FIFTH, respectively, which, upon due compliance with the provisions of the said Statute, shall be effective from and after the date of this meeting, according to their intent and purpose, and S. E. Moreton, President of the Corporation, is hereby authorized and directed forthwith to do and have done all things required by the provisions of the said Section 9 of Senate Bill No. 227, Chapter 146, said Laws of 1934, and in addition to any other certificate or certificates required of him, he is hereby authorized and directed to execute and attach to the required copies hereof, immediately below the next succeeding paragraph, being Paragraph 3 hereof, such certificate, duly sworn to, as may be prescribed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

3. That this resolution, setting forth the above and foregoing proposed amendments to the Charter of Incorporation of the Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company, as amended, embraced in Paragraphs RESOLVED, FOREMOST, FIRST, SECOND, THIRD, FOURTH and FIFTH, hereof, respectively, be and the said resolution is hereby adopted by the vote of a majority in amount of all stock outstanding, being a vote of the stockholders owning a majority of the stock of the Corporation, on this, the 19th day of December, 1934, at a special meeting of stockholders duly called and held for that purpose; subject, however, to the approval of the Superintendent of Banks of the State of Mississippi.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Brookhaven Bank and Trust Company of Brookhaven, Mississippi, held on December 19th 1934 at ten (10) o'clock a.m. of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote, the affirmative vote representing _____% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.
Total number of shares of capital stock 4000 Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 3777
Total number of shares represented at the meeting 3777 Total number of shares voted against the resolution 0000

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Bank by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

State of Mississippi,
Leflore County.

I, M. A. Cowden, President of the Bank of Shannon, of Shannon, Mississippi, hereby certify that the following resolution was passed at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Shannon held at its banking house on December 10, 1934, at 3:00 P. M., pursuant to call theretofore issued by authority of vote of Board of Directors of said Bank of Shannon, notice of which meeting was given to each stockholder by registered mail more than five days prior to the date of said meeting, which resolution is as follows:

"Resolved: That the Charter of Incorporation of the Bank of Shannon, of Shannon, Mississippi, be amended so as to provide as follows:

The Capital Stock of the Bank of Shannon shall be $15,000.00, composed of 37½ shares of preferred stock of par value of $100.00 per share, and 112½ shares of common stock of par value of $100.00 per share. The preferred stock shall mature 20 years after the date of issuance and shall provide for the payment of cumulative dividends at the rate of 3% per annum, payable semi annually, on the first day of January and July of each year, which preferred stock is to be issued in accordance with Section 52, Chapter 146, of the Laws of 1934. Said preferred stock shall have voting rights on equal dollar basis with common stock. Said preferred stock shall be subject to retirement on any dividend due date, upon vote of the Board of Directors of the bank and with consent of the Comptroller of Bank (or his successor in office) upon notice in writing by registered mail to the holders of such preferred stock, 30 days prior to the said proposed retirement. When any amount of such preferred stock shall be retired there shall be issued an additional amount of common stock to correspond with the principal amount of preferred stock retired, so as to keep the aggregate amount of Capital stock of the Bank of Shannon, $15,000.00 par value.

Resolved further that the President of the Bank of Shannon (or if he be unable to act the Vice-President in his stead) be and he is hereby authorized and directed to send certified copy of the above resolution to the proper authorities of the State of Mississippi, for the purpose of having the Charter of Incorporation of the Bank of Shannon amended in accordance with this resolution, and that he be authorized to do all things necessary to effect the amendment of the Charter of Incorporation of the Bank of Shannon in accordance with this resolution."

And that said Resolution was passed by the affirmative vote of the majority of the stock of said bank. I further certify that the matters contained in this certificate appear of record on the Minutes of the Stockholders of the Bank of Shannon, and that the above resolution is a true and correct copy thereof.

Witness my hand and seal of the Bank of Shannon, this the 10th day of December, 1934.

SUGGESTED FORM OF SHAREHOLDERS' RESOLUTION TO REDUCE COMMON CAPITAL STOCK AND TO REVISE DIVIDEND RATES ON PREFERRED STOCK

RESOLUTION TO REDUCE COMMON CAPITAL STOCK AND REVISE DIVIDEND RATES ON PREFERRED STOCK OF

ARTESIA STATE BANK

ARTESIA, MISSISSIPPI

RESOLVED FIRST, that the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $6,750, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $6,750, when approved by the Superintendent of Banks of Mississippi.

RESOLVED SECOND, that the par value of the common capital stock of this Corporation be changed from $100 to $50 per share.

RESOLVED THIRD, that this Corporation make, and that it be a condition of the aforesaid reduction that this Corporation make, no distribution of cash or any other assets to the shareholders on account of such reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but that the amount by which the common capital stock is reduced as result of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus, undivided profits or reserves in accordance with the requirements of the Superintendent of Banks of Mississippi.

RESOLVED FOURTH, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out sections (1), (2), (5), (7) and (13) of Article 2 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

"(1) Amount, classes and shares of capital stock. The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $14,250 divided into classes and shares as follows:

"(a) $7,500 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 150 shares of the par value of $50 each, and

"(b) $6,750 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon the retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section (4) of this Article 2) divided into 135 shares of the par value of $50 each."

"(3) Dividends on preferred stock. The holders of preferred stock in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section (5) of this Article 2) accruing after September 27, 1934 (hereinafter called the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent, per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent, per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent, per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates per annum required by this section (3) to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock; Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day."

"(6) Application of net profits. As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31, or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section (8) of this Article 2) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent, of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each August 1 and February 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940 of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent, of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent, of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section (6).

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section (8) of this Article 2) of a sum equal to forty per cent, of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent, of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section (7) of this Article 2."

"(7) Limitations on retirement of stock. Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $14,250 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding."

"(13) Other voting rights. If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding:

"(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semiannual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section (8) of this Article 2) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section (6) of this Article 2 on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent. of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation-- then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

At a annual meeting of the shareholders of Artesia State Bank, Artesia, Mississippi, held on Jan. 10, 1935, 10 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote, - the affirmative vote representing 66 per cent of the total number of shares of common stock outstanding and 100 per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of preferred stock outstanding	150
Total number of shares of preferred stock represented at the meeting	150
Total number of shares of preferred stock voted in favor of the resolutions	150
Total number of shares of preferred stock voted against the resolutions	0
Total number of shares of common stock outstanding	135
Total number of shares of common stock represented at the meeting	90
Total number of shares of common stock voted in favor of the resolutions	90
Total number of shares of common stock voted against the resolutions	0

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of say's notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (h) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

TUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF WATER VALLEY
 (Name of Bank)

WATER VALLEY
 (City)

YALOBUSHA
 (County)

MISSISSIPPI
 (State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $100,000.00 by the issuance of $100,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $140,000.00, of which $100,000.00 is preferred and $40,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article THREE and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article TWO and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $140,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $100,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 800 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $40,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 1, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of 4% percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
 (b) All interest accrued during such period;
 (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30th, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $140,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $2,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1934; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of BANK OF WATER VALLEY, WATER VALLEY, MISSISSIPPI

held on JANUARY 26th, 1935, 7 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 75% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

THE BANK OF HOUSTON
(Name of Bank)

HOUSTON
(City)

CHICKASAW

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 20,000.00 by the issuance of $ 20,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 32,500.00, of which $ 20,000.00 is preferred and $ 12,500.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article..... and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles..... and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 32,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 20,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 12,500.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.....) divided into 125 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after JANUARY 14, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article..... would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be; FEBRUARY 1ST, 1935.
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date, JUNE 30TH, 1935.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 32,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article..... in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 52 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

Brett, State Comptroller, State of Mississippi, do hereby certify that I have examined the proposed amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of The Bank of Houston, Houston, Mississippi, wherein it is proposed to increase the capital stock of said bank in the sum of $20,000.00 by the issuance of $20,000.00 of Preferred Stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Chapter 146 of the Laws of the State of Mississippi for the year 1934, making the total capital of The Bank of Houston $32,500.00, $20,000.00 of which is Preferred Stock and $12,500.00 is Common Stock, and I do hereby approve the proposed amendment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Department of Bank Supervision, this 4th day of February, 1935.
(SEAL) M. D. Brett, State Comptroller.

By _____ Assistant Attorney General

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Jackson

The within and foregoing Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of THE BANK OF HOUSTON is hereby approved.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed, this 8th day of February, 1935
BY THE GOVERNOR. SENNETT CONNER, Governor.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

THE MERCHANTS BANK
(Name of Bank)

BOLTON
(City)

HINDS

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 2 SEC 2 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 & 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 120 shares of the par value of $125.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 150 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after JANUARY 17, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after AUG 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $52,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All of substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes in which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 237, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 5,000.00 by the issuance of $ 5,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 15,000.00, of which $ 5,000.00 is preferred and $ 10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article..... and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles..... and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 15,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 5,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 50 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.....) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after FEB. 1, 1935 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article..... would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending....., 193..... (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 17,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article..... in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 18 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 58 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

The within and foregoing Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of BANK OF MANTEE is hereby approved.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed, this 8th day of FEBRUARY 1935
 BY THE GOVERNOR. SENNETT CONNER, Governor.

WALKER WOOD, Secretary of State.

RECORDED: FEBRUARY 9th 1935

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing one Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendment to Articles of Incorporation of

The State Guaranty Bank
(Name of Bank)

Magee
(City)

(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $40,000.00, by the issuance of $40,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $80,000.00, of which $40,000.00 is preferred and $40,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

____ (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock. -- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $80,000.00, divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $40,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 320 shares of the par value of $125.00 each; and

(b) $40,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article ____) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock. -- The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock. -- The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article ____) accruing after February 1, 1935, 2 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock. -- Dividends or other distribution whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in Section 5 of this article ____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issued without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits. -- For the purpose of this article ____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of the shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934,

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

- 1 The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
- 2 Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits. -- As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payment shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; Provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; Provided further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock. -- Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $92,000.00 4 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase. -- Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 5, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call. -- Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof, as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law --

3 Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

4 This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

5 This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect -- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 and 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights. -- In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights. -- (a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and such holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the Directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights. -- If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding--

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation --

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-section 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation. -- In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers. -- The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The Directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraph (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(b) Powers of Board of Directors. -- The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders. -- Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLUTION OF SHAREHOLDERS ADOPTING PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF WHITE'S LUMBER YARD OF THE CITY OF JACKSON, HINDS COUNTY, STATE OF MISSISSIPPI.

WHEREAS, White's Lumber Yard has on hand funds aggregating a larger amount than is necessary to carry on its business and meet its obligations in due course, and it is advisable that the amount of the capital stock be reduced from $100,000.00 to $80,000.00, by changing and reducing the par value of the shares from $100.00 to $80.00:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, FIRST, That the capital of this Corporation be reduced from $100,000.00 to $80,000.00, by taking up and cancelling the outstanding one thousand (1,000) shares of stock of the par value of $100.00 each, and issuing in lieu thereof one thousand (1,000) shares of the par value of $80.00 per share.

RESOLVED SECOND, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

"The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $80,000.00, divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $80,000.00 common stock, divided into one thousand (1,000) shares of the par value of $80.00 each.

(b) Preferred stock, and all other classes of stock - $ None."

RESOLVED THIRD, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 5.

RESOLVED FOURTH, That the President and Secretary of this Corporation shall call in all outstanding shares of stock and cancel the same and issue in lieu thereof to each shareholder, a certificate for the same number of shares surrendered by such shareholder.

At a meeting of the shareholders of White's Lumber Yard held on the 25th day of January, 1935, of which meeting each and every shareholder had more than five (5) days written notice, all of the foregoing Resolutions were adopted by the following vote:

Total number of shares of stock	- - - - -	1,000
Total number of shares of stock represented at the meeting	- - - - -	1,000
Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution	- - - - -	1,000
Total number of shares voted against the Resolution	- - - - -	None

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report of the meeting of the shareholders of White's Lumber Yard held on the date above mentioned; of the vote and of the resolutions adopted at said meeting, and that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each, is on file.

(City)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00, by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $20,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, That under the provisions of _____ the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $5,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $5,000.00.

Resolved, Third, That no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, substandard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the State Comptroller.

Resolved Fourth, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Fifth, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $15,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $50.00 (1) each; and

(b) $5,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after _____, 193____ (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers, (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders) depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934,

shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months period ending _____,

193____ (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries ^{already} treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936, 1936) shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30 as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in Section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided, further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $15,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000, (5) the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required,

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State

Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and commonstock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding, shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested By Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or ^{otherwise} acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 228, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Sixth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to each issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and Resolved Seventh, That the Board of Directors through its proper offices, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Myrtle, Myrtle, Miss., held on January 8, 1935, 10 days' notice of the proposed business (Name of Bank) (city) (state) 10 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 63% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock One Hundred Fifty.....150

Total number of shares represented at the meeting Ninety Four... 94

Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution

Ninety Four.....94

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing one class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

PEOPLES BANK OF JONESTOWN

(Name of Bank)

Jonestown
(City)Coahoma
(State)

RESOLVED FIRST, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $7,500.00, by the issuance of $7,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $17,500.00, of which $7,500.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED SECOND, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five not more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED THIRD, That the articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 8 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $17,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $7,500.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 125 shares of the par value of $60.00 (1) each; and

(b) $10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.---The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 8) accruing after Feb. 1, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid, or declared upon and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 8) accruing after the Recapitalization Date?

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of the preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article 8, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following: _____

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 8) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 8) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article 8.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $17,500.00 (4) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 8, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund, to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 8, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 8, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 8, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of their retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(a) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date, (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of this section 8 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time in any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that not vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place of its operations of discount and deposit are to

carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock, so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization ^{of the Corporation} may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of section 12 or 13 of this article 8 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article 8 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled ^{to} on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from ^{the date of} the issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article 8, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 8) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article 8 on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any ~~officer~~ director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office, (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14). Rights of preferred stock in liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared or accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article 9. (a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article 8 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business, and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article 10. Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of PEOPLES BANK OF JONESTOWN, Jonestown, Mississippi, held (Name of Bank) (city) (State) on Feb. 1, 1935, 5 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 100% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock 100
Total number of shares represented at the meeting 100.
Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 100.
Total number of shares voted against the resolution None.

I hereby certify this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days (notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (g) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

THE PEOPLES BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

(Name of Bank)

North Carrollton
(city)

Carroll
(County)

Mississippi
(state)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $80,000.00, by the issuance of $80,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $105,000.00, of which $80,000.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by inserting Article 7 as follows:

The Board of Directors shall consist of such numbers of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $105,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $80,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 16,000 shares of the par value of $5.00 each; and

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article) divided into 5,000 shares of the par value of $5.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after January 28, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividends shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net Profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provisions for doubtful assets, depreciation and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves; (d) Provision for all taxes, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders)

(3) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be included for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinbefore provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6. (c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,600.00 (5) the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock ~~shall~~ remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect--- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock ~~shall~~ at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding--- (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (A), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding. (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of ~~xxx~~ the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of The Peoples Bank & Trust Company, North Carrollton,

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies Issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

HOUSTON STATE BANK
(Name of Bank)

Houston
(City)

Chickasaw
(County)

Mississippi
(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00, by the issuance of $25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $50,000.00, of which $25,000.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article ____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $50,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $25,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article ____) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article ____) accruing after ____ , 193 ____ (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, ~~or~~ stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article ____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

5. Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article ____ , the net profits ~~or~~ net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period: (a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period, ~~or~~ available unallocated reserves; (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 193 ____ (3), need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers ~~or~~ transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6. (c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock requirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital (required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be re-issued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.)

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock.

TUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such officer, director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding, shall be entitled, as a class to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time

rovided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

. Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED FOURTH, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED FIFTH, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Houton State Bank, Houston, Mississippi, held on January 11th, 1935, Five days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote---the affirmative vote representing 82 4/5% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	207
Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	207
Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	NONE

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days' notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (h) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

BE IT REMEMBERED that on this the 31st day of January, 1935, the stockholders of the Bank of Anguilla met in the Directors' room of said bank pursuant to notice given by regiatered mail to all stockholders, in accordance with the resolution adopted by the Board of Directors of said bank held on the 22nd day of January, 1935, which said notice was in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS

Anguilla, Mississippi, January 23, 1935.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE BANK OF Angilla, Anguilla, Miss.

You are hereby notified that a special meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Anguilla, Anguilla, Mississippi, has been called by the Board of Directors, thereof to be held at its Banking House in the City of Anguilla, on the 31st day of January, 1935, at 3 o'clock P. M. to consider and vote upon the following proposals:

1. To reduce the Common Capital Stock of said Bank from $30,000.00 to $15,000.00, 300 shares at $50.00 per share.
2. To increase the capital stock of the Bank in the sum of $15,000.00 by the cfeation and issue of that amount of cumulative preferred stock, under the provisions of Section 52 of the Senate Bill #227 - Laws of 1934.
3. To amend the Articles of Association of the Bank so as to provide for a board of directors to consist of not less than five or more than twenty-five shareholders
4. To amend the Articles of Association of the bank to provide for the preferences, privileges, voting rights, restrictions and qualifications of such preferred stock and of the common stock and in respect to the Directors, officers and special meetings of the shareholders in accordance with a form or proposed amendment to the Articles of Association of the Bank, transmitted to the Bank by the Re-construction Finance Corporation, a copy of which amendments is on file at the Bank and may be examined there.
5. To transact such other business incidental to the foregoing proposals as may properly come before the meeting or any adjourned or postponed meeting.

If the shareholders of the bank at the said special meeting shall authorize the issuance of the preferred stock, each existing shareholder will be entitled to subscribe for his proportionate part of such preferred stock. The shareholders at such meeting will adopt a resolution providing for a period of five days from and after said meeting within which the preferred stock may be subscribed for. This period of five days, it is felt, complies with the legal requirements of a reasonable period of time for such subscription.

All of the preferred stock not subscribed for within a five day period from and after the date of said special meeting will be sold by the Board of Directors in accordance with the terms of a resulu-tion that will be adopted by the shareholders at said meeting.

By order of the Board of Directors. G. C. Fields, Cashier.

PROXY FOR SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

Know all men by these presents, that I, the undersigned stockholders in the Bank of Anguilla, Anguilla, Mississippi, do hereby nominate and appoint G. C. Fields my true and lawful attorney, with power of substitution, for me and in my name, place and stead to vote upon all stock of the said Bank of Anguilla, standing in my name on the books of the said Bank, at the special meeting of the stock-holders thereof, to be held at its banking house in Anguilla, Mississippi, on the 31st day of January, 1935, at 3 o'clock P. M. or at any adjournment thereof, on any and all of the proposals contained in the notice of the said special meeting of the shareholders of said bank, receipt of which notice is hereby acknowledged and the terms of which notice are hereby incorporated by reference into this proxy, with all the powers the undersigned would possess if present personally at said meeting, or any adjourn-ment or postponed meeting, hereby revoking all proxies by me heretofore made.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this _____ day of _____, 1935. _____
(signature) _____ (No. of shares) _____ (Witness Signature), the above being all of the stockholders of said Bank of Anguilla.

The meeting was called to order by W. C. H. McKinney, President, acting as Chairman and G. C. Fields, as Secretary, the purpose of the meeting was explained to the stockholders, and the approval of the Superintendent of Banks of the State of Mississippi to the proposed plan of the re-organization of recapitalization having been received on motion of W. T. McKinney, duly seconded by T. W. Fields, the following resolutions was considered and adopted by a unanimous vote to-wit;

RESOLVED that the articles of incorporation of the Bank of Anguilla be amended by striking out the pertinent part of Section three and inserting in the place thereof the following:
SECTION 3. The Capital Stock of said Corporation shall be Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000.00) and the stock shall be divided into shares of Fifty Dollars ($50.00)

Thereby reducing the common Capital Stock of said Bank of Anguilla from $30,000.00 to $15,000.00 and reducing the par value of each share of stock from $100.00 to $50.00; resolved further that the outstanding stock certificates are to be surrendered and an endorsement on the said certificate in writing or printing shall be made across the face thereof showing that the par value has been reduced from One Hundred Dollars per share to Fifty Dollars per share, which endorsement shall be in the following words and figures to-wit;

The par value of each share of the Common Capital stock represented by this certificate in the Bank of Anguilla, Anguilla, Mississippi has been reduced from One Hundred Dollars to Fifty Dollars, and the stockholders has by the surrender of this certificate for the endorsement hereon ratified and approved the reduction as herein provided, this the _____ day of _____, 1935,

BANK OF ANGUILLA, ANGUILLA, MISS.

By G. C. Fields, Cashier.

The above resolution was considered section by section and adopted, after being duly seconded by a unanimous vote of all stockholders.

After a discussion of the affairs of said Bank, and an explanation by the Board of Directors, on Motion of W. T. McKinney, duly seconded by T. W. Fields, the following resolution was considered section by section and adopted by a unanimous vote of all stockholders, to-wit;

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52, of Senate Bill # 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $15,000 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that the articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article Four and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Third, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Three and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of Capital Stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 250 shares of par value of $60.00 each; and

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of Section 4 of this Article) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after January 31, 1935, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitulation Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semiannually on each February 1, and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after August 1, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on each share from the February 1, or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount to the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves; (d) Provisions for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227 Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividends and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of any losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the next six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

FUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1, or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in Section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired of the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7 (b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of Section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of Section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in Section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid on to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article the Corporation may any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least 30 days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates thereof in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificates are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock; and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of Section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other banks;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive of this section 10 shall be null and void.

two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in Sections 10 and 13 of this Article and in this Section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him. (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit. (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled. (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13, of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or (b) The amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937 shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporations---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee, is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to ~~require~~ regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all the by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with the law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meeting of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved, Fourth, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved, Fifth, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Anguilla, Anguilla, Mississippi, held on January 31, 1935, five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote, the affirmative vote representing 100% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....300

Total number of shares represented at meeting.....300

Total number of shares voted in favor of Resolution.....300

Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....NONE

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days' notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, or other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING
ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

Bank of Morton
(Name of Bank)Morton
(City)Scott
(County)Mississippi
(State)

RESOLVED FIRST, That the capital of this corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00, by the issuance of $25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $46,000.00, of which $25,000.00 is preferred and $21,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED SECOND, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 8 and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED THIRD, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 6 and inserting in the place thereof the following: (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock. -- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $46,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows: (a) $25,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $100.00 (1) each; and (b) $21,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article) divided into 210 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on Preferred stock. -- The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after Feb. 12, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, ~~then~~ the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock. -- Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote of the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits. -- For the purpose of this article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period: (a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves; (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

1. The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
2. Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits. -- As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6. (c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; Provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935. Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase. -- Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (5), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within the days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call. -- Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law -- giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

5. This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock ^{any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock} as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with ^{reference} respect to the establishment ~~or~~ change of location of closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect -- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights. -- In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights. -- (a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article _____ and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time of outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights, -- If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding -- (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or (d) the Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation --

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority, provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation. -- In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment of other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this Section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors. -- The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders. -- Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED FOURTH, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED FIFTH, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Morton, Morton, Miss., held on Feb. 12, 1935, days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote, -- the affirmative vote representing 79% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares represented at the meeting	- - - - -	167
Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution	- - - - -	167
Total number of shares voted against the resolution	- - - - -	None.

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days' notice given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) That no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (h) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

W. D. Cook, President.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

PEOPLES BANK,	MENDENHALL,	SIMPSON,	MISSISSIPPI
(Name of Bank)	(City)	(County)	(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $35,000.00 by the issuance of $35,000.00 of preferred stock under provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $50,000.00, of which $35,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of share holders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $50,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $35,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 350 shares of the par value of $100.00 (1) each; and

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 150 shares of the par value of $100 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after _____, 193____ (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent ~~per~~ per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart

1. The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation Finance Corporation. 2. Insert date on which articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

FOR such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provisions for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 193* (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization date. depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1, thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $53,000.00 (4) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (5), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporations, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The Capitol stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches; (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding; (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company; (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of; (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and (h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him. (b) In all election of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit. (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled. (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meetings of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in sections 8 of this article) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said condition and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding. (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled. (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934. (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members, ^{PRESIDENT} of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The Directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint Judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meeting of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested form of amendments to Articles of Incorporation for continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing one class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

	BANK OF LULA (Name of Bank)
Lula (City)	Coahoma (County)	Mississippi (State)

Resolved, First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $5,000.00 by the issuance of $5,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $5,000.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 7 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 1 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $5,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 40 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 1) accruing after January 29, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day. ***

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 1) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article 1, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six Months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves; (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Article of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 1) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6. (c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 1) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article 1.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 1, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (5) the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 1, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provision of section 7 of this article 1, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 1, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired as a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days ^{prior} written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 1 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article 1 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article 1 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annually dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled. The preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article 1, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 1) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article 1 on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer or employee is not removed from office, (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case, the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article 14. (a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article 1 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

ARTICLE 9. Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise ^{specifically} provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed ~~by law~~ for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED FOURTH, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED FIFTH, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

THE CLEVELAND STATE BANK
(Name of Bank)

CLEVELAND
(City)

BOLIVAR
(County)

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $50,000.00 by the issuance of $50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $100,000.00, of which $50,000.00 is preferred and $50,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article..... and inserting in place thereof the following:
"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles..... and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $100,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
(b) $50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.....) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after January 5th, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article..... would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article..... in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 52 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of CLEVELAND STATE BANK, CLEVELAND, MISSISSIPPI

held on JANUARY 5, 1935, five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 55.35% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $5,000.00 by the issuance of $5,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $15,000.00, of which $5,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of Sec. 52, Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $5,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $5,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 2 Sec. 1 and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such ~~members~~ number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (b) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

- (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrendering the same to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(7) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.
 (11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.
 (12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.
 (13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.
 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.
 Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.
 RESOLVED, ^{SIXTH} ~~SEVENTH~~ that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and RESOLVED, ^{SEVENTH} ~~EIGHTH~~ that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $5,000.00 by the issuance of $5,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $15,000.00, of which $5,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of ~~5,000.00~~, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $5,000.00, leaving the total common capital after said reduction, $5,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ~~1~~, and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ~~1~~, and inserting in the place thereof the following:

tion, and shall not be made for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.
(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after JANUARY 7th, 1935, (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after JANUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

- (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.
- (3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(6) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(8) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

- (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date, the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped and signed by the Corporation, and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

SIXTH
 RESOLVED, ~~BEFORE~~ that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

SEVENTH
 RESOLVED, ~~BEFORE~~ that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

THE HERNANDO BANK,	HERNANDO,	DESOTO,	MISSISSIPPI
(Name of Bank)	(City)	(County)	(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $50,000.00 by the issuance of $50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $100,000.00, of which $50,000.00 is preferred and $50,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 2 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 2 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $100,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(b) $50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this article) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock, dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period; (b) All interest accrued during such period; (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or unallocated reserves; (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the amount of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same; (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(1) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months period ending 1936 (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be. (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February

1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes specified in this section 6. (c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; Provided, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, or or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form, and if required properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporations etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of ^{shares of} preferred stock; and provided, further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock; (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock; (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches; (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding: (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any ~~other~~ banking corporation or trust company; (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of; (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and (h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time ^{while} the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article on and after February 1, 1937, shall have announced in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, ~~plus, an amount equal to the par value thereof,~~ plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special Meetings of Shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the Shareholders of THE HERNANDO BANK, Hernando, Mississippi, held on Feb. 12th, 1935, 5 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote---the affirmative vote representing 77% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	500
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	385½
Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	385½
Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	NONE

I hereby certify that ^{this} is a true and correct report

- (a) of the number of days' notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned;
- (b) of the vote and
- (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and
- (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank;
- (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting;
- (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and
- (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and
- (h) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

PERRY COUNTY BANK
 (Name of Bank)

NEW AUGUSTA

PERRY

(City)

(County)

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 12,500.00 by the issuance of 12,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation 28,500.00, of which 12,500.00 is preferred and 16,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 8 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

4 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be 28,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 12,500.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 125 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(b) $ 16,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 4) divided into 160 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after August 13, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after August 1, 1934, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 4 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 4, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 4) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed 28,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

~~(10) This fund shall be used by the Corporation for the purchase of the preferred stock.~~

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 4 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

- (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article ⁴ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article ⁴ and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article

⁴ any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article ⁴) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

⁵ Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

TUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF CLARKSDALE

(Name of Bank)

CLARKSDALE, COAHOMA COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

(City)

(County)

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $300,000.00 by the issuance of $300,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $500,000.00, of which $300,000.00 is preferred and $200,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article and inserting in place thereof the following:
~~"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as the time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the shareholders at the time called. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."~~

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $500,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $300,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2400 shares of the par value of $125.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $200,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of subsection 4 of this Section 3) divided into 2000 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Section 3) accruing after October 17th 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1st, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Section 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Section 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(4) Insert the February 1st, August 1st next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Section 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31st, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Section 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Section 3.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Section 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $600,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Section 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid of to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Section 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Section 3, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for retirement, at least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the retired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Section 3 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) The Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this ~~Article~~ ^{Section} 3 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this ~~Article~~ ^{Section} 3 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this ~~Article~~ ^{Section} 3, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this ~~Article~~ ^{Section} 3) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its ~~Article~~ ^{Section} of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and the ~~Article~~ ^{Section} of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

(b) Power of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and the ~~Article~~ ^{Section} of Incorporation; for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of the ~~Article~~ ^{Section} of Incorporation.

15. Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of ~~Article~~ ^{Section} 3 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

17. Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, ~~that~~ ^{THAT} each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, ~~that~~ ^{FOURTH} that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $20,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of striking out Article 6, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $2,500.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $7,500.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 6 and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $7,500.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 100 Shares of the par value of $75.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock. February 1st, 1935.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date. Oct. 18th, 1934.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be; February 1st, 1935.
- Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. December 31st, 1934.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect.—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article.....5.....and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ³ ~~and inserting in the place thereof the following~~ as amended by Article 1, of an amendment to the Articles of Incorporation, adopted January 3rd, 1912, and inserting in the place thereof the following:

3. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $70,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 40,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 320 shares of the par value of $ 125.00 (1) each; and

(b) $30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 3) divided into 300 Shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....3.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article, 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

~~XX~~

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves:

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....³) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired on the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 3 of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 25,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....3....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement

(6) Retirement of preferred stock of Paragon. Subject to the provisions of Section 9 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....3....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3 at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as its whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purposes of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall determine, and provided always that the capital share of the Corporation shall not be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying to each share to be retired, retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of retirement. At least thirty days prior to the retirement of any such share, the Corporation shall give notice of retirement thereof, and the retirement price, and the date of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price) all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article.....3.....in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding.

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....3 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....3 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....3, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....3) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

(16) Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $25,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 7 D and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $25,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $75.00 each; and

(b) $10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after October 17th, 1934 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 and June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31st, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value of assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—and
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 & 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1933; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of West West Mississippi held on October 17th, 1934, Five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 100 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	100	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	100
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	100	Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	None

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank ~~were voted at said meeting~~ and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

TUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

State of Mississippi. COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
County of Panola. We, the undersigned, being the President and Cashier respectively of the Bank of Batesville, Batesville, Mississippi, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct copy of the resolution passed by the stockholders of the Bank of Batesville, Batesville, Mississippi, at a special meeting held on the 27th day of July, 1934, of which due and proper notice was given to stockholders as required by Senate Bill #227 enacted at the regular session of the Legislature of Mississippi in 1934 and being Chapter 146 of General Laws of Mississippi enacted in 1934 and by the by-laws of the bank, authorizing the amendment of the charter of the Bank of Batesville in the manner set forth in such resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, First, that the capital of this corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00 by the issuance of $25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $50,000.00, of which $25,000.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

of the charter,

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of Section 3/ the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $25,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $25,000.00

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and 6 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after July 27, 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after August 1, 1934, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

~~XXXXXX~~

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31st, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

~~XXXXXX~~

- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period 3 may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3.

of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $50,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest price (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

~~XXXXXX~~

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for such retirement, at least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

- These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

- (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... 3 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... 3 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... 3

any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article..... 3) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 83 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article 8. (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... 2 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article 9. Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, THAT each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, THAT the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

We do hereby further certify that such resolution as above quoted is duly recorded on pages 216 to 225 of the Minutes of the Bank of Batesville and that the same was duly enacted by the stockholders of the Bank of Batesville in accordance with Senate Bill 227 and Chapter 146 of the Laws of Mississippi as enacted by the regular 1934 session of the Mississippi Legislature and in accordance with the by-laws of such bank.

Witness our signatures and the seal of the Bank of Batesville this 28th day of October, 1934.

I, J. S. Love, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice was given to the shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting thereon and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such bank as voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting as co-trustee of this bank; and (h) that no director, officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

SEAL OF BANK

Subscribed and sworn to before me this _____ day of _____, 1934.

SEAL OF NOTARY

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
 Office of SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS, Jackson

I, J. S. Love, Superintendent of Banks, do hereby certify that I did on the 17th day of October, 1934, cause an examination to be made of the condition of the Bank of Batesville, Mississippi.

This examination shows the said bank to be in a solvent condition and its affairs and records are being conducted and kept in a satisfactory manner. The attached application for an amendment to its charter is hereby approved.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State Banking Department this 30th day of October, 1934.

Received at the office of the Secretary of State, this 30th day of October, A. D., 1934, together with the sum of $ 10.00 deposited to cover the recording fee, and referred to the Attorney General for his opinion.

Jackson, Miss., October 30, 1934.

I have examined this amendment of charter of incorporation of Bank of Batesville and am of the opinion that it is not violative of the Constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States.

GREEK L. RICE, Attorney General.

By W. W. Pierce, Assistant Attorney General.

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of 10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $25,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $10,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $5,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $5,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 100 Shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after _____, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 193____, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Silver Creek State Bank, Silver Creek, Mississippi

held on 2d day of Oct., 1934, 6 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 76% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00 by the issuance of $25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $65,000.00, of which $25,000.00 is preferred and $40,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of ~~the~~ the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $15,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $25,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article One and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles four and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(a) The par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.) divided into 250 Shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.) accruing after February 1, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article.

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Citizens Bank Columbia Mississippi
 held on October 4 five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 76 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	400	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	304
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	304	Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	None

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

AMITE

(County)

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 40,000.00 by the issuance of $ 40,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 55,000.00, of which $ 40,000.00 is preferred and $ 15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $ 7,500.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $ 7,500.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 & 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(6) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, ^{SIXTH} that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, ^{SEVENTH} that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of AMITE COUNTY BANK GLOSTER MISSISSIPPI

held on October 31st 1934 Five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 83 1/3% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

My commission expires January 1st, 1937

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI Office of SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS, Jackson

I, J. S. Love, Superintendent of Banks, do hereby certify that I did on the 1st day of November 1934, cause an examination to be made of the condition of the Amite County Bank of Gloster, Mississippi.
This examination shows the said bank to be in a solvent condition and its affairs and records are being conducted and kept in a satisfactory manner. The attached application for an amendment to its charter is hereby approved.
Given under my hand and the seal of the State Banking Department this the 13th day of November 1934.

Received at the office of the Secretary of State, this the 13th day of November A. D., 1934, together with the sum of $ 66.00 deposited to cover the recording fee, and referred to the Attorney General for his opinion.
Jackson, Miss., November 13, 1934

I have examined this amendment of charter of incorporation of Amite County Bank and am of the opinion that it is not violative of the Constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

TUCKER PRINTING HOUSE JACKSON MISS

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

PEOPLES BANK
(Name of Bank)

LOUIN
(City)

JASPER

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 6,000.00 by the issuance of $ 6,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 12,000.00, of which $ 6,000.00 is preferred and $ 6,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 12,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 6,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 240 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 6,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 240 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 each.

such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article _____ would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 193____ (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 12,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of THE PEOPLES BANK LOUIN MISSISSIPPI

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000 by the issuance of $ 50,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 65,000, of which $ 50,000 is preferred and $ 15,000 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

ARTICLE 3 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 65,000 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50,000 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 15,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 3) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $ 60.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after OCTOBER 16th 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending DECEMBER 31st 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article. ³
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article. ³ and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article ³, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article. ³) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $7,500.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $7,500.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 5 and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after November 21, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

- (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.
- (3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

- (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provide always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior to written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(7) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (8) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....4.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....4....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....4.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

15. (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....4.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

16. Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, ^{SIXTH} that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, ^{SEVENTH} that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

On motion made by Geo. J. Hauenstien, seconded by W. M. Breland, and duly carried by the affirmative vote of 261 shares of stock represented at this meeting, being 87% of the capital stock of said bank outstanding, the Articles of Incorporation of said Bank of Wiggins were amended as follows:

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF WIGGINS

Wiggins
(City)Stone
(County)Mississippi
(State)

RESOLVED FIRST, that the capital stock of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00 by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the corporation $45,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED SECOND, that, Under the provision of _____, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $15,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $15,000.00.

RESOLVED, THIRD, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, substandard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 2, Section 2A, and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes, to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED FIFTH, that the articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Fourth and inserting in the place thereof the following:

FOURTH (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $75.00 each; and

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after _____, 1934

(hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any shares of such stock issued after _____, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders

(6) Insert the February 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 or August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(7) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date

- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $35,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase of preferred stock for retirement at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice.

provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(f) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(g) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article.....in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

- (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
- (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
- (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared, and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....

Any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

- (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

RESOLVED, SIXTH that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, SEVENTH that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Wiggins Wiggins Mississippi
(Name of Bank) (City) (State)

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

HOLMES COUNTY BANK & TRUST COMPANY

(Name of Bank)

LEXINGTON

HOLMES

(County)

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000.00 by the issuance of $ 50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 100,000.00, of which $ 50,000.00 is preferred and $ 50,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 3 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 100,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 800 shares of the par value of $ 62.50 each; and

(1) The par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after November 26, 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $20,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ~~_____~~ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ~~_____~~ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 160 shares of the par value of $62.50 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $20,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article _____) accruing after September 22nd 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1st 1934, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article _____ would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports determined by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31st 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $20,000.00 (6) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.
(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.
(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.
(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.
(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.
(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.
(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.
Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.
RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and
RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF QUITMAN

(Name of Bank)

QUITMAN
(City)CLARKE
(County)MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 25,000.00 by the issuance of $ 25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 45,000.00, of which $ 25,000.00 is preferred and $ 20,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and 6 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 3 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 45,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 25,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $ 62.50 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 20,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 3) divided into 200 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after October 16, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 45,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All of substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.
 (14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article 6 (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article 13 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.
 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article 7 Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and
RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 10,000.00 by the issuance of $ 10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 10,000.00, of which $ 10,000.00 is preferred and $ 10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article five and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles four and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 10,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after Dec. 12, 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after Feb. 1st, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending Dec. 31st, 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 20,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

LAMAR COUNTY BANK
(Name of Bank)

PURVIS
(City)

LAMAR

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 25,000.00 by the issuance of $ 25,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 35,000.00, of which $ 25,000.00 is preferred and $ 10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article FIVE and inserting in place thereof the following:

Article FIVE. (1) The period of existence is fifty years.

(2) "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article FOUR and inserting in the place thereof the following:

ARTICLE FOUR. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 35,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 25,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article. Four) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article. Four) accruing after December 14th 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article. Four) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article Four would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article Four, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article. Four) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. Four

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 37,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. Four, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. Four, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(9) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. Four, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. Four, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article. Four in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article Four and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article Four and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article Four, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 3 of this Article Four) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.
 (14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article Six (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article Four hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.
 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article Seven Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Lamar County Bank Purvis Mississippi
 held on December 14th 1934, 14 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 99.1% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	150	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	148 7/100
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	148 7/100	Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	none

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

F. W. Foote President.

SEAL OF NOTARY
C. M. Jackson Notary Public.
 Notary Public, Lamar County, Miss.
 My Commission expires August 20, 1938

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
 Office of SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS, Jackson

I, J. S. Love, Superintendent of Banks, do hereby certify that I did on the 5th day of December 1934, cause an examination to be made of the condition of the Lamar County Bank of Purvis, Mississippi.
 This examination shows the said bank to be in a solvent condition and its affairs and records are being conducted and kept in a satisfactory manner. The attached application for an amendment to its charter is hereby approved.
 Given under my hand and the seal of the State Banking Department this the 20th day of December 1934.

Received at the office of the Secretary of State, this the 21st day of December A. D., 1934, together with the sum of $ 50.00, deposited to cover the recording fee, and referred to the Attorney General for his opinion.
Jackson, Miss. WALKER WOOD, Secretary of State.

I have examined this amendment of charter of incorporation of Lamar County Bank and am of the opinion that it is not violative of the Constitution and laws of this State, or of the United States.
 GREEK L. RICE, Attorney General.

By W. W. Pierce Assistant Attorney General.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
 EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Jackson

The within and foregoing Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of Lamar County Bank is hereby approved.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed, this 22nd day of December 1934.
 BY THE GOVERNOR. SENNETT CONNER, Governor.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

GEORGETOWN BANK

(Name of Bank)

GEORGETOWN

(City)

COPIAH

(County)

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $12,500.00 by the issuance of $12,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $27,500.00, of which $12,500.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of ~~the~~ the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $10,500.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $4,500.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ~~number~~ and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such ~~number~~ number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ~~and~~ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after ~~the~~ 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending ~~1934~~ 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

- Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

- To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $12,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal; or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 58 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Georgetown Bank (Name of Bank), Georgetown (City), Miss (State) held on Oct 27 1934, 10 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 92% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	150	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	138.6
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	138.6	Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	none

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 500,000.00 by the issuance of $ 500,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 665,000.00, of which $ 500,000.00 is preferred and $ 165,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by adding a paragraph to Article Five to be designated as Section 2 of Article Five following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article Four and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 665,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 500,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 5,000 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 165,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article Four) divided into 1,650 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article Four) accruing after April 26, 1934, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article Four) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article Four would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article Four, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article Four) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article Four.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 672,600.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article Four, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 10,000.00, (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article Four, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article Four, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article Four, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article Four in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....Four.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....Four.....any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....Four.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 63 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....Four.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner, in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

PEOPLES BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
(Name of Bank)

67 FAYETTE JEFFERSON MISSISSIPPI
(City) (County) (State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 15,000.00 by the issuance of $ 15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 40,000.00, of which $ 15,000.00 is preferred and $ 25,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that under the provisions of ~~the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $ 10,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $ 15,000.00.~~

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by ~~striking out Article~~ ~~and inserting in place thereof~~ the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such ~~members~~ number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out ~~Sec 4~~ ~~and inserting in place thereof~~ the following:
original charter, and the amendment adopted January 19, 1923

Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after December 26, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after January 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 30,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 35,000.00 by the issuance of $ 35,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 65,000.00, of which $ 35,000.00 is preferred and $ 30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 7, Section 3, as amended, and inserting in place thereof the following:

(a) "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by moving the second paragraph of Article 7, Section 3 as amended and inserting in the place thereof the following:

read as follows:

(b) (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 65,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 35,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 280 shares of the par value of $ 125.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 7) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 7) accruing after December 27th 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3) such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 7) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 7 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 7, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 7) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 7.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 75,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 7, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 7, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 7, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 7, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner as to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of every such share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 7, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....7.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....7....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....7.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....7.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of NEWTON COUNTY BANK, NEWTON, MISSISSIPPI
 (Name of Bank) (City) (State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 12,500.00 by the issuance of $ 12,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $27,500.00 of which $12,500.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article IV and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles III and inserting in the place thereof the following:

III (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 27,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 12,500.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 125 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article III) divided into 150 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article III) accruing after December 31, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article III) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article III would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article III, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article III) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article III.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 28,300.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article III, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article III, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article III, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article III, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of every such share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article III.

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article III hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and
RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Flora, Flora, Mississippi
 held on 21st December, 1934, 5 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 100% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock	150	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution	150
Total number of shares represented at the meeting	150	Total number of shares voted against the resolution	000

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

GREENVILLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

(Name of Bank)

GREENVILLE

(City)

WASHINGTON

(County)

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $50,000.00 by the issuance of $50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $100,000.00, of which $50,000.00 is preferred and $50,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article ~~and inserting in place thereof the following:~~

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles ~~4~~ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $100,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after Dec 18th 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after Dec 18th 1934 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending Dec 31st 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $121,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Greenville Bank and Trust Co. Greenville Miss.
 (Name of Bank) (City) (State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 35,000.00 by the issuance of $ 35,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 85,000, of which $ 35,000 is preferred and $ 50,000 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that, under the provisions of the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $ 25,000, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $ 25,000.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article number and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 1, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1934, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after January 1, 1934, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

- (b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 75,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

- (6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretried shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect--

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.--In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.--(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article

any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.--If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding--

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article, and on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation-- then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.--In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.--The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article, hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.--The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.--Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

SIXTH
RESOLVED, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

SEVENTH
RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Magnolia Bank Magnolia Mississippi held on December 28th 1934, six days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,--the affirmative vote representing 88 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock 500 Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 440
Total number of shares represented at the meeting 449 Total number of shares voted against the resolution 9

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 100,000 by the issuance of $ 100,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 155,000, of which $ 100,000 is preferred and $ 55,000 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 425 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 425 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(Article 425)

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 155,000 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 100,000 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 5,000 shares of the par value of $ 20.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 55,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 425) divided into 2,200 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 425) accruing after January 5, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 425) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 425 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 425, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 425) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 425.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 155,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 425, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 2,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 425, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 425, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 425, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 425 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect--

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article

any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding--

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation--

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 52 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article 4.25 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

(c) Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 85,000.00 by the issuance of $ 85,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 115,000.00, of which $ 85,000.00 is preferred and $ 30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 3 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 115,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 85,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 1,360 shares of the par value of $ 62.50 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 600) divided into 600 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 3 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 159,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 3, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article

any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(15) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article 3 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(16) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

(17) Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Philadelphia Philadelphia, Mississippi held on Jan. 8, 5 11 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 66.84% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock 600 Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 401
Total number of shares represented at the meeting 401 Total number of shares voted against the resolution None

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,
DEPARTMENT OF BANK SUPERVISION, JACKSON.

I, M. D. Brett, State Comptroller, State of Mississippi, do hereby certify that I have examined the proposed amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of Bank of Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Mississippi, wherein it is proposed to increase the capital stock of said bank in the sum of $85,000.00 by the issuance of $85,000.00 of Preferred Stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of the State of Mississippi, for the year 1934, making the total capital of the Bank of Philadelphia $115,000.00, $85,000.00 of which is Preferred Stock and $30,000.00 is Common Stock, and I do hereby approve the proposed amendment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Department of Bank Supervision, this the 10th day of January, 1935.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF BLOUNTVILLE

(Name of Bank)

PRENTISS

HEFFERSON DAVIS

(City)

(County)

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $40,000 by the issuance of $40,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $80,000, of which $40,000 is preferred and $40,000 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out ~~XXXX~~ Section 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out ~~XXXX~~ Section 5 as amended and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Section 3

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $80,000.00 divided into class and shares as follows:

(a) $40,000 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $80,00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $40,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $80.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 8th 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31st 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $87,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

- (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Presumptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article

any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of BANK OF BLUNTVILLE (Name of Bank), PRENTISS (City), MISSISSIPPI (State) held on January 8th, 1935, Ten days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 51 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock.....	500	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....	368
Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....	368	Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....	none

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 30,000.00 by the issuance of $ 30,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 40,000.00, of which $ 30,000.00 is preferred and $ 10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 40,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 30,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article _____) accruing after _____ 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1933, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after _____ February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article _____ would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 41,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All of substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 3 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $75,000.00 by the issuance of $75,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $150,000.00, of which $75,000.00 is preferred and $75,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article Sec. I and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Four and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article Four. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $150,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $75,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 750 shares of the par value of $100.00 (1) each; and

(b) $75,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 750 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 8th, 1935, the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $150,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,500.00, (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of every such share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the retired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;
- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;
- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;
- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;
- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article. Four
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article. Four and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article Four, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 3 of this Article. Four) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

SECTION 1. (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article Four hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.
 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

SECTION 3. Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $7,500.00 by the issuance of $7,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $17,500.00, of which $7,500.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that, under the provisions of the resolution, the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $5,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $5,000.00.

RESOLVED, THIRD, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled.

A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles all conflicting articles and inserting in the place thereof the following: X

(2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending Dec. 31, 1935, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $17,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000 by the issuance of $15,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $35,000, of which $15,000 is preferred and $20,000 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article..... and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles..... and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $35,000 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 800 shares of the par value of $18.75 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $20,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.....) divided into 800 Shares of the par value of $25.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after..... 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after..... 1934 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article..... would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending..... 1934 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits, (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $35,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article..... in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000.00 by the issuance of $ 50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 62,500.00 of which $ 50,000.00 is preferred and $ 12,500.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 7 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

"4" (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 62,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 12,500.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article. "4") divided into 250 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article. 4) accruing after January 7, 1935 ~~xxx~~ (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after Feb. 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article. 4) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article. 4 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article. 4, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article. 4) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 4

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 62,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 4, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 4, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 4, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article. 4, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article. 4 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

- (f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article 4 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of BANK OF FRANKLIN (Name of Bank), MEADVILLE (City), MISSISSIPPI (State), held on January 7, 1935, 10 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote—the affirmative vote representing 68.6 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock	250	Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution	171-1/2
Total number of shares represented at the meeting	171-1/2	Total number of shares voted against the resolution	none

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by such holding company affiliates of this bank as voted at said meeting the stock of this bank owned by such holding company affiliates; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 80,000.00 by the issuance of $ 80,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 110,000.00, of which $ 80,000.00 is preferred and $ 30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article.....and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes, to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles.....and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 110,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 80,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 1,280 shares of the par value of $ 62.50 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.....) divided into 600 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after.....1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article.....) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article.....would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article....., the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending.....193..... (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.....

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 138,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,600.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article....., the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in any such certificate as retired, or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article.....in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 59 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article, hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of THE CITIZENS BANK (Name of Bank) PHILADELPHIA (City) MISSISSIPPI (State) held on January 8th, 1935, Five days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,—the affirmative vote representing 452 of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 90,000.00 by the issuance of $ 90,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 115,000.00, of which $ 90,000.00 is preferred and $ 25,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 115,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 90,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2880 shares of the par value of $ 31.25 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 1000 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after _____, 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after _____, 1934, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article _____ would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 1934, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 115,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1800.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date, the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 75,000.00 by the issuance of $ 75,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 150,000.00, of which $ 75,000.00 is preferred and $ 75,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 5 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 4

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 150,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 75,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 1,125 shares of the par value of $ 66 2/3 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 75,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article 4) divided into 750 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after January 15, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 4 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 4, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 4) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 150,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,500.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 4 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....4
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....4 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....4, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....4) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 63 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article 4-A. (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....4 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.
 (b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article 4-B. Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and
RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 70,000.00 by the issuance of $ 70,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 95,000.00, of which $ 70,000.00 is preferred and $ 25,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by ~~inserting the following:~~ inserting the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 95,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 70,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 5600 shares of the par value of $ 12.50 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 2500 shares of the par value of $ 10.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 9th, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 99,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,400.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of every such share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article.....any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents. At least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 10,000.00 by the issuance of $ 10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 20,000.00, of which $ 10,000.00 is preferred and $ 10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the articles of incorporation be amended by striking out the following: "The common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $ 5,000.00, leaving the total common capital after said reduction, $ 5,000.00."

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after _____ 1934 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after _____ 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article _____ would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____ 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article _____) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 15,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article _____, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article, hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

SIXTH
RESOLVED, ~~that~~ that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

SEVENTH
RESOLVED, ~~that~~ that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
DEPARTMENT OF BANK SUPERVISION
JACKSON

I, M. D. Brett, State Comptroller, State of Mississippi, do hereby certify that I have examined the proposed amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of Bank of Walnut Grove, Walnut Grove, Mississippi, wherein it is proposed to increase the capital stock of said bank in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of Preferred Stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of the State of Mississippi for the year 1934, and contemporaneously therewith to reduce the common capital of said bank from $10,000.00 to $5,000.00, making the total capital of Bank of Walnut Grove $15,000.00, $10,000.00 of which is preferred stock and $5,000.00 is Common Stock, and I do hereby approve the proposed amendment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Department of Bank Supervision, this January 21st, 1935. (SEAL) M. D. Brett, State Comptroller.

By W. W. L. L. L. Assistant Attorney General.

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

THE FIRST STATE BANK

(Name of Bank)

HOLLY SPRINGS

(City)

MARSHALL

(County)

MISSISSIPPI

(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $30,000.00 by the issuance of $30,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $80,000.00, of which $30,000.00 is preferred and $50,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article governed by By-Laws, amended as follows: and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $80,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $30,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 480 shares of the par value of $62.50 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 8th 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $80,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case of any two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.
 (14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF WINONA
(Name of Bank)

WINONA
(City)

MONTGOMERY
(County)

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 60,000.00 by the issuance of $ 60,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 110,000.00, of which $ 60,000.00 is preferred and $ 50,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by adding to old original charter Section 9, and inserting to read as follows:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Section 2 of the old original charter, and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 2 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 110,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 60,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2,000 shares of the par value of $ 30.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article.) divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 8th, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after December 31, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months period ending June 30th, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

- (a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;
- (4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 110,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,200.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

- (a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

- (b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

- (c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

- (d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

- (e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

Brett, State Comptroller, State of Mississippi, do hereby certify that I have examined the proposed amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of Bank of Winona, Winona, Mississippi, wherein it is proposed to increase the capital stock of said bank in the sum of $60,000.00 by the issuance of $60,000.00 of Preferred Stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Chapter 146 of the Laws of the State of Mississippi for the year 1934, making the total capital of Bank of Winona $110,000.00, $60,000.00 of which is Preferred Stock and $50,000.00 is Common Stock, and I do hereby approve the proposed amendment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Department of Bank Supervision, this the 21st day of January, 1935. (SEAL) M. D. BRETT, State Comptroller.

GREEK L. RICE, Attorney General.

By W. W. Pierce Assistant Attorney General.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
 EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Jackson

The within and foregoing Amendment to the Charter of Incorporation of Bank of Winona is hereby approved.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed, this 22nd day of January, 1935

BY THE GOVERNOR.

SENNETT CONNER, Governor.

WALKER WOOD, Secretary of State.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK OF STARKVILLE, MISSISSIPPI
(Name of Bank)

STARKVILLE
(City)

OKTIBBEHA
(County)

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000.00 by the issuance of $ 50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 75,000.00, of which $ 50,000.00 is preferred and $ 25,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article Three and inserting in place thereof the following:
"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Four and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 75,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $ 125.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 25.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 250 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 3) accruing after January 8, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 85,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(9) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on Liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK STARKVILLE MISSISSIPPI

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 60,000.00 by the issuance of $ 60,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 88,750.00, of which $ 60,000.00 is preferred and $ 28,750.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by ~~striking out Article~~ inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and 5 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article 4 (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 88,750.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 60,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2400 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 28,750.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 1150 shares of the par value of $ 25.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after January 17, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article 4) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article 4 would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article 4, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article 4) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 88,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,200.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article 4, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 4 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article 11 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $20,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $10,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 2 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $20,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $10,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the

Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 1, 1935

(2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending December 31, 1934, shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $22,700.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

This Corporation is located and its charter, amendments to the State of Mississippi by a group of the Attorney General of the State of Mississippi, dated September 16, 1942, and signed by the Attorney General of the State of Mississippi, dated September 16, 1942, is filed in this office, this 25th day of September, 1942. (Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi.)

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of COMMERCIAL STATE BANK, GOODMAN, MISSISSIPPI
 held on January 10th, 1935, 8 days notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote, the affirmative vote representing 56 2/3% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.
 Total number of shares of capital stock 100 Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 56 2/3
 Total number of shares represented at the meeting 56 2/3 Total number of shares voted against the resolution none

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that voting permits were procured from the Federal Reserve Board by each holding company affiliate of this bank as voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (g) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (h) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (i) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $100,000.00 by the issuance of $100,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $200,000.00, of which $100,000.00 is preferred and $100,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article IV and inserting in place thereof the following:
"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles II and inserting in the place thereof the following:

ARTICLE II (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $200,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $100,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $100.00 each; and

(4) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $100,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article II) divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article II) accruing after JANUARY 16, 1935

(2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935 (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article II) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article II would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(3) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(2) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article II, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30, 1935, 1936 (X), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article II) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article II.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $213,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article II, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $2,000.00 (X), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article II, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(4) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article II, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article II, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article II, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article, and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article, and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently repaid or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1935; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

ARTICLE II (a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article II hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

ARTICLE III Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $50,000.00 by the issuance of $50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $80,000.00, of which $50,000.00 is preferred and $30,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved, Second, that under the provisions of the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $10,000.00, leaving the total common capital after said reduction, $20,000.00.

Resolved, Third, that no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital stock of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write-down losses, sub-standard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or Superintendent of Banks.

Resolved, Fourth, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____, and inserting in place thereof the following: "The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____, and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after January 29, 1935

(2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $71,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article..... and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article..... and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article..... any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article..... hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

SIXTH
RESOLVED, ~~that~~ that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

SEVENTH
RESOLVED, ~~that~~ that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

592

Amendment to Charter of Incorporation of COLUMBIA BANK of Columbia, Mississippi.

"Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of COLUMBIA BANK COLUMBIA, MARION COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $60,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $95,000.00, of which $60,000.00 is preferred and $35,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in place thereof the following:

The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Resolved, Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, Classes, and Shares of Capital Stock.--The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $95,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $60,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 750 shares of the par value of $80.00 each; and

(b) $35,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article) divided into 350 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.--The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.--The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after January 21, 1935 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.--Dividends on other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.--For the purpose of this article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfer to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its share-holders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law, provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30th, 1935, need be made by reason of any charge offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.--As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936) shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner what so ever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased from retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide for such retirement) exceed $95,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,200.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form, and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change, the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect.

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article, and one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.--In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.--The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.--The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the election; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.--Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved, Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved, Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable."

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 35,000 by the issuance of $ 35,000 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 80,000, of which $ 35,000 is preferred and $ 45,000 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article Six and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Three and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 80,000 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 35,000 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 400 shares of the par value of $ 87.50 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 45,000 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 450 shares of the par value of $ 100 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after February 1, 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 80,000 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;
 (g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and
 (h) Any plan or reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect—
 Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article.....
 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the Superintendent of Banks shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the Superintendent of Banks.

(11) Preemptive rights.—In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.—(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this Article.....and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.
 (b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.
 (c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in sub-paragraph (2) of section 13 of this Article....., any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation, may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.—If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding—
 (a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or
 (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article.....) on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
 (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the Superintendent of Banks, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or
 (d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation—
 then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:
 (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.
 (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee, satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.
 (3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of subdivisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.
 (4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation, under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.—In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.—The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and, subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of Article.....hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand.

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.—The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.—Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

RESOLVED, FOURTH, that each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

RESOLVED, FIFTH, that the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies Issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation

of

MERCHANTS & FARMERS BANK

(Name of Bank)

Kosciusko

(City)

Attala

(County)

Mississippi

(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $75,000.00 by the issuance of $75,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $125,000.00, of which $75,000.00 is preferred and $50,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such numbers of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.--The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $125,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $75,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 600 shares of the par value of $125.00 (1) each; and

(b) $50,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.--The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.--The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after _____, 193____ (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935 at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semiannually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.--Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from the reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.--For the purpose of this article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 193____ (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have set up, and all transfers to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.--As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof,

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the putstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $168,500.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,500.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefore in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and not be re-issued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital Stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporations, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation).

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time, through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock:

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such ~~stock~~ of that class held by them respectively, by mailing first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article _____ and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of vote allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation--- then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata shares of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property or otherwise, shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The Directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Merchants and Farmers Bank, Kosciusko, Miss.,
(Name of Bank) (city) (state)
held on January 8th 1935, 15 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 70.8% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total Number of shares of capital stock 500.

Total number of shares represented at the meeting 354.

Total number of shares voted in favor of the resolution 354.

Total number of shares voted against the resolution: None.

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct report (a) of the number of days' notice, given by registered mail, of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (g) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing One Class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation
of

GRENADA BANK

(Name of Bank)

GRENADA,
(City)

GRENADA,
(County)

MISSISSIPPI.
(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $600,000.00 by the issuance of $600,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $850,000.00, of which $600,000.00 is preferred and $250,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That, under the provisions of Section 9 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934 the common capital stock of this Corporation be reduced in the sum of $125,000.00, leaving the total common capital, after said reduction, $125,000.00.

Resolved, Third, That no distribution of assets shall be made to the shareholders of the Corporation by reason of the reduction of the common capital of the Corporation, but a sum equal to the amount of said reduction shall be used to charge off or write down losses, substandard and/or non-acceptable assets and/or shall be transferred to surplus or undivided profits in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Reserve Board and/or the State Comptroller.

Resolved, Fourth, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article 3 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved, Fifth, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles 3 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Art. #3. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $725,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $600,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 6,000 shares of the par value of 100.00 (1) each; and

(b) $125,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3) divided into 2,500 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.---The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 3) accruing after January 31st, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall ~~have~~ not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the commonstock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article 3) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article 3, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net Profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, chargeoffs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30, 1935, (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority.

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 3) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be thereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 3) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article 3.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $850,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 3, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $12,000.00, the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 3, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 3, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article 3, the corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner as to carry out the purposes of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article 3 in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect--- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article 3 and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its ~~liabilities~~ ^{liabilities}, including all capital stock outstanding any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares ~~shall not have~~ ^{have} been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article 3 and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are ^{directors} to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock, then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article 3, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article 3) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article 3 on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the votes of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

A. (a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article 3 hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b). Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

(B) Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Sixth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation, on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Seventh, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Grenada Bank, Grenada, Mississippi, held on 14th, (Name of Bank) (City) (State)

January, 1935, 5 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 68 4/25 % of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Suggested Form of Amendments to Articles of Incorporation for Continuing Mississippi State Banks and Trust Companies issuing one class of Preferred Stock.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation

of

OCEAN SPRINGS STATE BANK

(Name of Bank)

Oceans Springs
(City)Jackson
(County)Mississippi
(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $15,000.00, by the issuance of $15,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $30,000.00, of which $15,000.00 is preferred and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article V and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles III and inserting in the place thereof the following:

Article III. (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $30,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $15,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 375 shares of the par value of $40.00 (1) each; and

(b) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.---The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article III) accruing after January 19, 1935 (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article III) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the putstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article III, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net Profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such rights as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30th, 1935, (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings), shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August 1, 1936), shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 or June 30, as the case may be, the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article III) on August 1, 1936, of a sum equal to three-quarters of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter, to and including February 1, 1940, of a sum equal to one-quarter of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter of a sum equal to one-half of one per cent of the aggregate par value of the preferred stock at the time outstanding. In the event that the net profits of the Corporation shall on any such February 1 or August 1 be insufficient to permit the payment into such preferred stock retirement fund of the full amount hereinabove provided for, the deficiency shall be fully paid before any net profits of the Corporation shall be hereafter applied to any of the purposes hereinafter specified in this section 6.

(c) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article III) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph (c) need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever: Provided, further, however, That unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund required by this paragraph (c) except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935.

Subject to compliance with the provisions of section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this article III.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.---Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $31,500.00 (4) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article III whenever the balance in the preferred stock ^{retirement} fund shall amount to as much as $1,000 (5) the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value ^{thereof} and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article III, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law. Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article III, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.---Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this article III, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without ~~any~~ interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.---By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law---

(3) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date. (4) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock. (5) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article III in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock.

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---

Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article III and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class, prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article III and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article III, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of shareholders, for or without cause and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article III) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article III on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation---then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such officer, director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the vote to which his class is entitled.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but, the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

Article VI. (a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice-Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except such as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article III hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid by them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a Board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Article VII. Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing, not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person or persons as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Ocean Springs State Bank, Ocean Springs, Mississippi, held on January 19, 1935, 5 days' notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 75 2/3% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

Total number of shares of capital stock...300

Total number of shares represented at the meeting.....227

Total Number of shares voted in favor of the resolution.....227

Total number of shares voted against the resolution.....None

I, hereby certify that this a true and correct report (a) of the number of days' notice, given by registered mail of the meeting of shareholders of this bank held on the date above mentioned; (b) of the vote and (c) of the resolutions adopted at said meeting and (d) that a complete list of the shareholders voting therefor and the number of shares voted by each is on file in the bank; (e) that no shares of stock of this bank owned by this bank were voted at said meeting; (f) that no shares of stock held by this bank as sole trustee were voted at said meeting; and (g) that no shares of stock of this bank held by this bank as co-trustee were voted at said meeting by this bank; and (h) that no director, other officer or employee acted as proxy at said meeting.

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING TWO CLASSES OF PREFERRED STOCK.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF

BANK OF KILMICHAEL
(Name of Bank)

KILMICHAEL
(City)

MONTGOMERY
(County)

MISSISSIPPI
(State)

Resolved First, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $25,000.00 by the issuance of $20,000.00 of preferred stock "A" and the issuance of $5,000.00 of preferred stock "B" under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the corporation $40,000.00, of which $20,000.00 is preferred stock "A", $5,000.00 is preferred stock "B", and $15,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Section 6 and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Section 2 as amended on January 29, 1934, and inserting in the place thereof the following:

"Section 2. (1) Amount, classes and shares of capital stock. --- The amount of capital stock of the corporation shall be $40,000.00, divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $20,000.00 par value of preferred stock "A" (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 320 shares of the par value of $62.50 each 1, and (b) $5,000.00 par value of preferred stock "B" (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 80 shares of the par value of $62.50 each 1, and (c) $15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of Section 5 of this Article ____), divided into 250 shares of the par value of $60.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock -- The holders of preferred stock "A" and the holders of preferred stock "B" shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock "A". -- The holders of preferred stock "A", in preference to the holders of preferred stock "B" and common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of Article 2) accruing after January 17, 1935 2 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this Section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock "A" shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock "A", the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, or made in respect of the preferred stock "B" or the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock "A" shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends of preferred stock "B".  Subject to the provisions of Sections 3 and 7 of this Article 2, the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of this Article 2) accruing after the Recapitalization Date, cash dividends thereon at the rate of not exceeding 5 per cent per annum of the par value thereof to be fixed by the Bank 3. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rate or rates per annum required by this Section 4 to be paid on the preferred stock "B" shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock "B" shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(5) Dividends on common stock. -- Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in Section 6 of this Article 2) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" would decrease the outstanding capital of the corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the the aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of such preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall

- 1 The per share par value of the preferred stock "A" and the preferred stock "B" will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
- 2 Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.
- 3 In cases where loans are to be made by the R.F.C. on the preferred stock "B", the dividend rate shall be agreed upon in each case by the Corporation, the bank, and the borrower, but shall not be less than four nor more than five per cent per annum of the par value thereof. In cases where the preferred stock "B" is to be purchased without the assistance of a loan from the R.F.C., the dividend rate may be fixed by the Bank but shall not exceed five per cent per annum of the par value thereof.
- 4 Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Reaapitalization date.
- 5 This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issuance of the preferred stock "A" and preferred stock "B", will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of preferred stock "A".

profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock "B" retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "B" at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; and

(3) Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2.

(8) Limitations on retirement of stock. -- Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be called or purchased for retirement by the corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the corporation, and the retirement fund provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issue to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $47,000.00 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all then outstanding shares of preferred stock of the class to be retired. So long as any shares of preferred stock "A" are outstanding, the corporation shall not call or purchase for retirement any shares of preferred stock "B".

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, whenever the balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, the corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock "A" by call, as provided in Section 10 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock "A" at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A" at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A", if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, the corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in Section 10 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock "A" which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A" as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement; provided, however, that the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law. Whenever the balance in the preferred stock "B" retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00, such balance shall be used for the retirement of preferred stock "B" by purchase or call in the manner herein provided for the retirement of preferred stock "A". Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, at any time, and from time to time, the corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock "A" retirement fund or (after all shares of preferred stock "A" shall have been retired) to the preferred stock "B" retirement fund, as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" purchased for retirement by the corporation, whether from the retirement funds or otherwise, shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Retirement of preferred stock by call. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, the corporation may at any time, at its election, as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B", or both, as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this Section 10 as the Board of Directors of the corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days' prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price) all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(11) Increase or decrease of capital stock; amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock as the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law -

(a) The capital stock of the corporation may be increased at any time, and from time to time, through issuing additional shares of preferred stock "A", preferred stock "B", and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that

(1) No vote of the holders of preferred stock "A" shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of preferred stock "B" and/or common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock "A";

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock "B" retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "B" at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; and

(3) Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2.

(8) Limitations on retirement of stock. -- Except with the approval of the State Comptroller no preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be called or purchased for retirement by the corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the corporation, and the retirement fund provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $47,000.00 5 by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all then outstanding shares of preferred stock of the class to be retired. So long as any shares of preferred stock "A" are outstanding, the corporation shall not call or purchase for retirement any shares of preferred stock "B".

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, whenever the balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 6, the corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock "A" retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock "A" by call, as provided in Section 10 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock "A" at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A" at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A", if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, the corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in Section 10 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock "A" which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock "A" as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement; provided, however, that the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law. Whenever the balance in the preferred stock "B" retirement fund shall amount to as much $1,000.00 6, such balance shall be used for the retirement of preferred stock "B" by purchase or call in the manner herein provided for the retirement of preferred stock "A". Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, at any time, and from time to time, the corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock "A" retirement fund or (after all shares of preferred stock "A" shall have been retired) to the preferred stock "B" retirement fund, as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B" purchased for retirement by the corporation, whether from the retirement funds or otherwise, shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Retirement of preferred stock by call. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 8 of this Article 2, the corporation may at any time, at its election, as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock "A" or preferred stock "B", or both, as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this Section 10 as the Board of Directors of the corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days' prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(11) Increase or decrease of capital stock; amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock as the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law -

(a) The capital stock of the corporation may be increased at any time, and from time to time, through issuing additional shares of preferred stock "A", preferred stock "B", and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that

(1) No vote of the holders of preferred stock "A" shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of preferred stock "B" and/or common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock "A";

(2) No vote of the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be required with respect to any funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the vote to which the holders of preferred stock "B" (whether or not the votes of the preferred stock "B" shall have been increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this Section 13) and of common stock, as classes, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(e) At any time while the votes of preferred stock "A" and/or of the preferred stock "B" are increased as provided in paragraph (c) or (d) of this Section 13 or in sub-paragraph (2) of Section 14 of this Article 2, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(14) Other voting rights. -- If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding --

- (a) The corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividends payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock "A" (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock "A"); or
- (b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock "A" retirement fund (referred to in Section 9 of this Article 2) in accordance with the requirements of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph (a) of Section 7 of this Article 2, on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock "A" at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or
- (c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue;

- (1) All directors, officers, and employees of the corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding;
- (2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the corporation that any director, officer, or employee of the corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of preferred stock "B" (whether or not the votes of the preferred stock "B" shall have been increased as provided in paragraph (c) of Section 13 of this Article 2) and of common stock, as classes, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled;
- (3) The corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 53 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934;
- (4) The corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock "A" at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(15) Rights of preferred stock "A" on liquidation. -- In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment of other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of preferred stock "B" or common stock, the holders of preferred stock "A" shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger, consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the corporation within the meaning of this Section 15.

(16) Rights of preferred stock "B" on liquidation. -- Subject to the provisions of Section 15 of Article 2, in the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise, shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock "B" shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment.

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000.00 by the issuance of $ 50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 80,000.00, of which $ 50,000.00 is preferred and $ 30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Two (2) and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 80,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after JAN. 9TH 1934, (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1934, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart for the dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article , the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- (a) All expenses for such period;
- (b) All interest accrued during such period;
- (c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- (d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- (e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- (f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30th, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article .

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 30,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article , whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof, and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article , the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(6) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(8) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article , at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article , the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner as carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividend thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior to retirement notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price) all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) This Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 50,000.00 by the issuance of $ 50,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 80,000.00, of which $ 50,000.00 is preferred and $ 30,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Two (2) and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 80,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 50,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 30,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $ 100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after JAN. 9TH 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1935, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after February 1, 1935, such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending June 30TH 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 80,000.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof, and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

SUGGESTED FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FOR CONTINUING MISSISSIPPI STATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES ISSUING ONE CLASS OF PREFERRED STOCK.

Proposed Amendments to Articles of Incorporation of

Bank of Picayune (Name of Bank)	Picayune (City)	Pearl River (County)	Mississippi (State)
---	---------------------------	--------------------------------	-------------------------------

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $100,000.00 by the issuance of $100,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $152,500.00, of which $100,000.00 is preferred and $52,500.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock. -- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $152,500.00, divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $100,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2,000 shares of the par value of $50.00 1 each; and

(b) $52,500.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article ---) divided into 1,050 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of Stock. -- The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock. -- The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after _____, 193 ____2 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semiannually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this Section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock. -- Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in Section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits. -- For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the corporation paid or payable by the corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus are required by Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $100,000.00 by the issuance of $100,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $152,500.00, of which $100,000.00 is preferred and $52,500.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article 4 and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock. -- The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $152,500.00, divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $100,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 2,000 shares of the par value of $50.00 1 each; and

(b) $52,500.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article ---) divided into 1,050 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of Stock. -- The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock. -- The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after _____, 193__2 (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semiannually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this Section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock. -- Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the corporation (determined as provided in Section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for the retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock, out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of stock of any class or any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits. -- For the purpose of this Article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;
(b) All interest accrued during such period;
(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the corporation paid or payable by the corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall

or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date, the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be canceled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock: Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc. -- By affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the State Comptroller and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law --

5 This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of Section 4 of Article in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to an amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may consolidate or merge into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect -- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of Sections 12 and 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this Section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights. -- In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights. -- (a) Except as otherwise provided in Sections 10 and 13 of this Article and in this Section 12, each holder of such stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividends), or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, (and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law) by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement.

At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. (h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect -- Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of Sections 12 and 13 of this Article and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this Section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights. -- In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from the date of such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively, and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights. -- (a) Except as otherwise provided in Sections 10 and 13 of this Article and in this Section 12, each holder of such stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any such dividend

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $ 10,000.00 by the issuance of $ 10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $ 25,000.00, of which $ 10,000.00 is preferred and $ 15,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article Four and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles Two and inserting in the place thereof the following:
THE DOMICILE OF THE SAID CORPORATION SHALL BE IN THE TOWN OF EDWARDS, HINDS COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, AND

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $ 25,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $ 10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 160 shares of the par value of $ 62.50 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $ 15,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article) divided into 300 shares of the par value of $ 50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after JANUARY 9, 1936, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $ 32,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $ 1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.
(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30, 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $32,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $17,500.00 by the issuance of $17,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $42,500.00, of which $17,500.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended ~~by striking out Article IV and inserting in place thereof the following:~~ BY ADDING THE FOLLOWING TO BE KNOWN AS ARTICLE IV OF THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION
"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article IV and inserting in the place thereof the following:

ARTICLE IV (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $42,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $17,500.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $35.00 each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article IV) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article IV) accruing after JANUARY 8th 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article IV) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article IV would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article IV, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

- All expenses for such period;
- All interest accrued during such period;
- All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;
- Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;
- Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and
- The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30th, 1935, (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article IV) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $42,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock

dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article IV in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

RESOLVED, FIRST, that the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $17,500.00 by the issuance of $17,500.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $42,500.00, of which $17,500.00 is preferred and $25,000.00 is common stock.

RESOLVED, SECOND, that the Articles of Incorporation be amended ~~by striking out Article IV and inserting in place thereof the following:~~ BY ADDING THE FOLLOWING TO BE KNOWN AS ARTICLE IV OF THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION:
"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

RESOLVED, THIRD, that the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Article IV and inserting in the place thereof the following:

ARTICLE IV (1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.—The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $42,500.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $17,500.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $35.00 (1) each; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

(b) $25,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second and third paragraphs of section 4 of this Article IV) divided into 500 shares of the par value of $50.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.—The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.—The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article IV) accruing after JAN 8th 1935 (2), (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date"), cash dividends thereon to and including March 31, 1939, at the rate of four percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at the rate of five percent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share; provided, however, that, in the case of any share of such stock issued after FEBRUARY 1, 1935, (3), such dividends shall accrue on such share from the February 1 or August 1, as the case may be, next preceding the date of issuance thereof. Such dividends shall be cumulative so that if dividends at the full rate required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.—Dividends or other distributions, whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this Article IV) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any call or purchase for retirement of preferred stock pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 or 9 of this Article IV would reduce the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount at the time required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall declare on the common stock out of net profits of the Corporation accruing after the Recapitalization Date, a dividend in an amount equal to the sum required to maintain the capital of the Corporation at such minimum amount after giving effect to such retirement, such dividend to be payable in shares of common stock which shall be issued (without any action on the part of the holders of stock of any class or on the part of the Superintendent of Banks) pro rata to the holders of common stock.

(2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders.

(3) Insert the February 1 or August 1 next succeeding the proposed date of purchase of preferred stock.

(5) Determination of net profits.—For the purpose of this Article IV, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of term "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the Superintendent of Banks) of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the Superintendent of Banks for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provision for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending JUNE 30th 1935 (4), shall be required by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves made during said period on account of losses sustained on or prior to the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.—As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1, shall apply the net profits of the Corporation for the six months' period ending on the next preceding December 31 and June 30, as the case may be, to the following purposes and in the following order of priority:

(a) To the payment of dividends on the outstanding preferred stock accrued to such February 1 or August 1, as the case may be;

(4) Insert June 30 or December 31 next succeeding the Recapitalization Date.

(b) To the payment into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this Article IV) of a sum equal to forty per cent of the remainder, if any, of such net profits; provided, however, that the aggregate amount paid into the preferred stock retirement fund in any one year need not exceed five per cent of the maximum aggregate par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding, whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever; provided, further, however, that unless otherwise elected, from time to time, by the Corporation by action of its Board of Directors, it shall not be required to make such payment into the preferred stock retirement fund except from such net profits as may have accrued from and after December 31, 1935;

Subject to compliance with the provisions of Section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, any balance of net profits for any such period may be applied from time to time to such lawful purposes as may be determined by the Board of Directors, subject, however, to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV.

(7) Limitations on retirement of stock.—Except with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks no preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement by the Corporation unless the then unimpaired capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Corporation, and the retirement funds provided for herein (after giving effect to the proceeds of the issuance of any stock issued to provide funds for such retirement) exceed $42,500.00 (5) by an amount at least equal to the sum necessary to effect such retirement. No shares of preferred stock shall be called or purchased for retirement unless all accrued dividends (whether or not earned or declared) to the dividend payment date next preceding the date of such retirement shall have been paid on all shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(8) Retirement of preferred stock by purchase.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, whenever the balance in the preferred stock retirement fund shall amount to as much as $1,000.00 (6), the Corporation shall (unless the Board of Directors shall elect to use the entire amount of such balance in the preferred stock retirement fund for the retirement of preferred stock by call as provided in section 9 hereof) within ten days thereafter mail, first-class postage prepaid, to all holders of record of preferred stock at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice specifying the balance in such fund and stating that the same is available for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock at the lowest prices (not in excess of the par value thereof and accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, to the date of purchase) offered within twenty days after the date of such notice. At the expiration of such twenty days, the Corporation shall apply such balance to the purchase for retirement of preferred stock, if obtainable, in accordance with the terms of such notice. Within ten days after such expiration, subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, the Corporation shall call for retirement, in the manner provided in section 9 hereof, the largest number of shares of preferred stock which can be retired from the balance in such retirement fund remaining after deducting the amount paid or to be paid for the purchase for retirement of preferred stock as aforesaid, and shall set aside from such retirement fund the sum necessary to effect such retirement, but the minimum capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount of capital required by law.

(5) This figure, representing approximately the unimpaired capital structure of the Corporation after giving effect to the issue of the preferred stock, will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation prior to the purchase of the preferred stock.

(6) This figure will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, at any time and from time to time the Corporation may make such lawful transfers from its surplus and/or undivided profits to the preferred stock retirement fund as the Board of Directors may determine. All shares of preferred stock purchased for retirement by the Corporation, whether from the retirement fund or otherwise, shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(9) Retirement of preferred stock by call.—Subject to the provisions of section 7 of this Article IV, the Corporation may at any time, at its election as expressed by resolution of the Board of Directors, retire the outstanding preferred stock as a whole, or from time to time in part, pro rata, or by lot in such equitable manner to carry out the purpose of this section 9 as the Board of Directors of the Corporation in its discretion shall from time to time determine, and provided always that the capital shall in no event be reduced below the minimum amount required by law, by paying for each share to be retired a retirement price equal to the par value thereof plus all accrued dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of such retirement. At least thirty days prior written notice of every such retirement, stating the retirement date and the retirement price, and the place of payment thereof, shall be mailed, first-class postage prepaid, to the holder of record of each share to be retired, at the address of such holder as shown on the books of the Corporation. Such notice having been so mailed, each holder of shares so called for retirement shall be entitled to receive payment of the retirement price of such shares (without interest) upon surrender to the Corporation, on or after the retirement date, at the place designated in such notice, of the certificate or certificates therefor in transferable form and, if required, properly stamped for transfer. In case less than all of the shares represented by any such certificate are retired, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unretired shares. From and after the retirement date (unless the Corporation shall default in payment of the retirement price), all dividends on shares called for retirement shall cease to accrue, such shares shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and all rights of the holders thereof as shareholders of the Corporation, except the right to receive the retirement price, shall terminate. All shares so retired shall be cancelled forthwith and shall not be reissued.

(10) Increase or decrease of capital stock; Amendments of Articles of Incorporation, etc.—By the affirmative vote of the holders, voting by classes, of at least two-thirds of the shares of each class of stock at the time outstanding, and not otherwise, and subject to such approval by the Superintendent of Banks and such other conditions as at the time may be required by law—

(a) The capital stock of the Corporation may be increased at any time and from time to time through issuing additional shares of preferred stock and/or common stock, and/or through the creation of one or more additional classes of stock; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of preferred stock shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock if the entire proceeds of such issue are to be used for the retirement of shares of preferred stock; and provided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article IV, in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock remains outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank;

(State)

Resolved First, That the capital of this Corporation be increased in the sum of $10,000.00 by the issuance of $10,000.00 of preferred stock under the provisions of Section 52 of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, making the total capital of the Corporation $22,000.00, of which $10,000.00 is preferred and $12,000.00 is common stock.

Resolved Second, That the Articles of Incorporation be amended by striking out Article _____ and inserting in place thereof the following:

"The Board of Directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled. A majority of the Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Resolved Third, That the Articles of Incorporation be further amended by striking out Articles _____ and inserting in the place thereof the following:

(1) Amount, classes, and shares of capital stock.---The amount of capital stock of the Corporation shall be $22,000.00 divided into classes and shares as follows:

(a) $10,000.00 par value of preferred stock (subject to retirement as hereinafter provided) divided into 125 shares of the par value of $80.00 (1) each; and

(b) $12,000.00 par value of common stock (subject to increase upon retirement of preferred stock as provided in the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____) divided into 120 shares of the par value of $100.00 each.

(2) Assessability of stock.---The holders of preferred stock shall not be held individually responsible as such holders for any debts, contracts, or engagements of the Corporation, and shall not be liable for assessments to restore impairments in the capital of the Corporation.

(3) Dividends on preferred stock.---The holders of preferred stock, in preference to the holders of common stock, shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared by the Board of Directors, out of net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article) accruing after _____, 193____ (2) (hereinafter referred to as the "Recapitalization Date") cash dividends thereon to and including January 31, 1935, at the rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter to and including January 31, 1940, at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more, and thereafter at rate of four per cent per annum of the par value thereof, and no more. Such dividends shall be payable semi-annually on each February 1 and August 1, and shall accrue, as to any given share of such stock, from the date of issuance of such share. Such dividends shall be cumulative, so that if dividends at the full rates required by this section 3 to be paid on the preferred stock shall not have been paid upon or declared and set apart for such preferred stock, the deficiency shall be fully paid or declared and set apart before any dividend or other distribution, whether in cash, property, stock, or otherwise, shall be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock. Dividends on the preferred stock shall be deemed to accrue from day to day.

(4) Dividends on common stock.---Dividends or other distributions whether in cash, property, stock or otherwise, shall, so long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, be declared, ordered, set apart, paid, or made in respect of the common stock only out of the net profits of the Corporation (determined as provided in section 5 of this article _____) accruing after the Recapitalization Date.

If any retirement of preferred stock would decrease the outstanding capital of the Corporation below the minimum amount required by law, the Board of Directors, prior to or simultaneously with such retirement, shall transfer an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preferred stock so retired from reserves set up for retirement of preferred stock to a special reserve fund for the payment of common stock dividends, and shall declare on the common stock out of such special reserve fund, a dividend payable in common stock in an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the preserved stock so retired, and the shares of common stock required for the payment of any such stock dividend shall be issuable without any further vote on the part of the holders of any class any further approval on the part of the State Comptroller.

(5) Determination of net profits.---For the purpose of this article _____, the net profits or net loss (as distinguished from usage of terms "net profits" and "net loss" in reports required by the State Comptroller of the Corporation shall be determined for each six months' period ending on December 31 or June 30 by deducting from the gross earnings from all sources for such period:

(a) All expenses for such period;

(b) All interest accrued during such period;

(c) All losses determined during such period, and such charge-offs and write-downs of assets and transfers to reserves (whether from income, undivided profits or surplus) for such period (including all charge-offs, write-downs and transfers to reserves requested by the State Comptroller for such period) as may be reasonably necessary to make proper provision for doubtful assets, depreciation, and undetermined losses, but to the extent only that such losses, determined or undetermined, charge-offs, and write-downs of assets exceed reserves previously set up therefor in such period or any prior period, or available unallocated reserves;

(d) Provisions for all taxes for such period, including taxes measured by income and taxes based on the ownership of stock in the Corporation paid or payable by the Corporation for the account of its shareholders, without prejudice to such right as the Corporation may have to recover the same;

(e) Such transfers for such period to surplus as may be required by law; provided, however, that transfers to earned surplus as required by section 7-(b) of Senate Bill No. 227, Laws of 1934, shall not be deducted from gross earnings in determining net profits available for the dividend and retirement requirements of the preferred stock; and

(1) The per share par value of the preferred stock will be fixed by Reconstruction Finance Corporation. (2) Insert date on which Articles of Incorporation amended by shareholders)

(f) The net loss, if any, determined in accordance with the provisions of this section 5, accrued since the Recapitalization Date, accumulated to and existing at the beginning of such period; provided, however, that no deductions from gross earnings for the six months' period ending _____, 193____ (3) need be made by reason of any charge-offs or write-downs of assets or transfers to reserves required by the State Comptroller and approved in writing by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made on account of loss incurred prior to or depreciation in assets existing at the Recapitalization Date.

All recoveries over net book value on assets previously charged off and or written down or against which reserves have been set up, and all transfers from reserves to surplus or undivided profits (other than transfers made to reflect recoveries already treated as gross earnings) shall be considered gross earnings for the respective periods during which such recoveries or transfers are effected.

(6) Application of net profits.---As long as any shares of preferred stock are outstanding, the Corporation, on each February 1 and August 1 (except that, as provided in paragraph (b) hereof, no payments shall be required pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph prior to August

vided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock ^{is} outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days after such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two-semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any part of such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time outstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation--- then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the votes of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt of the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35--STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

vided further, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to any issue of additional shares of common stock as a stock dividend, pursuant to the second paragraph of section 4 of this Article _____ in connection with the retirement of shares of preferred stock;

(b) The capital stock of the Corporation may be decreased at any time and from time to time to any amount not below the amount at the time required by law; provided, however, that no vote of the holders of stock of any class shall be required with respect to the retirement of preferred stock;

(c) The name of the Corporation and/or the place where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on may be changed, but this clause shall not be construed to abridge the powers of the Board of Directors under applicable law with reference to the establishment or change of location or closing of branches;

(d) These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time and from time to time in any other respect, but not so as to change the respective voting rights of the preferred stock and common stock so long as any of the preferred stock ^{new} outstanding;

(e) The Corporation may be consolidated or merged into or with any other bank, or may acquire all or substantially all of the assets and business of any banking corporation or trust company;

(f) All or substantially all of the assets and business of the Corporation may be sold or otherwise disposed of;

(g) The Corporation may go into voluntary liquidation; and

(h) Any plan of reorganization of the Corporation may be carried into effect---Provided, however, that if and as long as the voting rights of the preferred stock are increased in accordance with the provisions of sections 12 or 13 of this Article _____ and the fair value of the assets of the Corporation as determined by the State Comptroller shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding, any of the actions specified in the foregoing paragraphs (a) to (h) inclusive, of this section 10 may be taken by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled, and not otherwise, except that the Corporation may not be put into voluntary liquidation without the approval of the State Comptroller.

(11) Preemptive rights.---In case of any increase in the capital stock of the Corporation of any class other than by way of a stock dividend, the new shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all shares of stock of that class at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of shares of such stock of that class held by them respectively, by mailing, first-class postage prepaid, to such holders, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, transferable subscription warrants exercisable at any time on or before thirty days from such mailing. If at the expiration of such subscription rights, any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such shares shall be offered for subscription to the holders of record of all other shares of stock of all other classes at the time outstanding, in proportion to the number of such shares held by them respectively and notice shall be given as above provided. If at the expiration of both of such subscription rights any of the new shares have not been subscribed for, such unsubscribed new shares may be issued and sold at such price, not less than the par value thereof, to such persons and on such terms as the Board of Directors may determine.

(12) Voting rights.---(a) Except as otherwise provided in sections 10 and 13 of this article and in this section 12, each holder of stock of any class shall be entitled to vote on all matters one vote for each share of stock of any class held by him.

(b) In all elections of directors, each holder of stock of any class shall have the right to vote the votes allocable to the number of shares owned by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such votes and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of votes allocable to his shares shall equal, or to distribute such votes on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit.

(c) In case as many as two-semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock shall be in arrears (exclusive of any ~~xxx~~ of such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock), then, and until all arrears of dividends upon the preferred stock shall have been paid and the full dividend on the outstanding preferred stock for the then current semi-annual dividend period shall have been declared and funds set apart for the payment thereof, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(d) At any time while the votes of the preferred stock are increased as provided in paragraph (c) of this section 12 or in subparagraph (2) of section 13 of this article _____, any one or more of the directors, officers, or employees of the Corporation may be removed at any annual or special meeting of the shareholders, for or without cause, and their successors elected, by the affirmative ~~xx~~ vote of two-thirds of the votes to which the holders of all classes of stock, voting as one class, are at the time entitled.

(13) Other voting rights.---If at any time while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall hold not less than twenty-five per cent of the total number of shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding---

(a) The Corporation shall be in arrears in the payment of as many as two semi-annual dividend payments (whether or not consecutive and whether or not earned or declared) on the preferred stock (exclusive of any such dividend which may be payable at any time within three (3) months from the date of issuance of the preferred stock); or

(b) The amounts paid into the preferred stock retirement fund (referred to in section 8 of this article _____) in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (c) of section 6 of this article _____ on and after February 1, 1937, shall not have amounted in the aggregate to five per cent of the maximum par value of the preferred stock at any time putstanding (whether or not any such stock shall have been subsequently retired or the aggregate par value thereof reduced in any manner whatsoever) multiplied by the number of calendar years which shall have elapsed since January 1, 1936; or

(c) The fair value of the assets of the banking corporation as determined by an examination of the banking corporation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (which may be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation once in each calendar year if the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall so elect), or as determined by the State Comptroller, shall be less than an amount equal to all of its liabilities, including all capital stock outstanding; or

(d) The Corporation shall violate or fail to observe any of the terms, provisions, or conditions of its Articles of Incorporation--- then after written notice from Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the existence of any of said conditions and so long as any of said conditions in (a), (b), (c) and (d) above shall continue:

(1) All directors, officers, and employees of the Corporation shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the votes of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

(2) In case Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with the approval of the State Comptroller, at any time shall notify the Corporation that any director, officer or employee of the Corporation is regarded by Reconstruction Finance Corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employee is not removed from office (and, if requested by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employee satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the Corporation of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock, as a class, are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled.

(3) The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority; provided, however, that this limitation shall not apply to real estate acquired under the provisions of sub-divisions 2 and 3 of Section 52 of Senate Bill 227, Laws of 1934.

(4) The Corporation shall not incur indebtedness maturing more than one year from the creation thereof, without the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding or a written waiver of voting rights with respect thereto by the holders of such majority, but the indebtedness herein referred to shall not be construed to include the issuance of circulating notes and the acceptance of time deposits, which may continue to be accepted by the Corporation under such conditions as may be provided by law.

(14) Rights of preferred stock on liquidation.---In the event of any receivership, conservatorship, liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, before any payment or other distribution, whether in cash, property, or otherwise shall be made to the holders of common stock, the holders of preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, for each share of such stock held by them, an amount equal to the par value thereof, plus an amount equal to all unpaid dividends thereon, whether or not earned or declared, accrued to the date of payment, but shall not be entitled to any other or further payment; provided, however, that a merger or consolidation in accordance with law and these Articles of Incorporation, shall not be deemed a liquidation, dissolution, or winding up of the Corporation within the meaning of this section 14.

(a) Officers.---The Board of Directors shall elect one of its members President of the Corporation. The Board may designate a director in lieu of the President to be Chairman of the Board, who shall perform such duties as may be designated by the Board. The directors shall have power to elect one or more Vice Presidents, at least one of whom shall also be a member of the Board of Directors, and who shall be authorized, in the absence or inability of the President from any cause, to perform all acts and duties pertaining to the office of president except as the President only is authorized by law to perform; and to elect or appoint a Cashier, and such other officers and clerks as may be required to transact the business of the Corporation; and subject to the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 13 of article _____ hereof, to fix the salaries to be paid to them, and to continue them in office or to dismiss them as in the opinion of a majority of the Board the interests of the Corporation may demand;

(b) Powers of Board of Directors.---The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and clerks of the Corporation, to require bonds from them, and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which election of directors shall be held and to appoint judges of the elections; to make all by-laws that it may be proper for them to make, not inconsistent with law and these Articles of Incorporation, for the general regulation of the business of the Corporation and the management of its affairs, and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a board of directors to do and perform according to law and within the limits of these Articles of Incorporation.

Special meetings of shareholders.---Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, special meetings of the shareholders may be called for any purpose at any time by the Board of Directors or by the holders of at least ten per cent of the then outstanding shares of any class. Every such special meeting shall be called by mailing not less than ten days before the time fixed for the meeting, to all shareholders of record entitled to act and vote at such meeting, at their respective addresses as shown on the books of the Corporation, a notice stating the purpose of the meeting. Such notice may be waived in writing.

Resolved Fourth, That each shareholder of record may subscribe within five days from and after the date of this meeting to such issue of preferred stock in proportion to the number of shares of common stock of the Corporation standing on the books of the Corporation in his name; and

Resolved Fifth, That the Board of Directors through its proper officers, at the expiration of the said five days, shall sell the unsubscribed portion of such preferred stock at such price (not less than the par value thereof) to Reconstruction Finance Corporation and/or to such other person as the Board of Directors may deem advisable.

At a meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Lake, Lake, Mississippi, held on January 23rd, 1935, 7 days' (Name of Bank) (City) (State) 1935, 7 days' (notice of the proposed business having been given by registered mail, all of the foregoing resolutions were adopted by the following vote,---the affirmative vote representing 74% of the total number of shares of capital stock outstanding.

RECORD OF CHARTERS 34-35---STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI:

The Greenwood Compress and Storage Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Mississippi, domiciled in the City of Greenwood in said State, proposes to amend its Charter and asks leave to so amend the said charter by adding at the end of paragraph eight thereof an amendment as follows:

The said Corporation may issue Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars of preferred stock, the par value of which shall be One Hundred Dollars per share, the dividends on such stock to be due and payable semi annually at the rate of six per cent per annum, the first dividend paying date to be on the 1st day of June, 1935, the second on the 1st day of December, 1935, and semi annually thereafter. Said preferred stock shall be callable and redeemable at the election of the directors of this Corporation, at any dividend paying date by paying to the legal holder thereof, upon the surrender of the certificate evidencing the said stock the par value thereof, plus the dividend earnings thereon and plus three dollars for each share, after publishing notice of said call once each week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the City of Greenwood, Mississippi, and by mailing notice of said call to the holders thereof as then shown by the books of this Corporation at least ten days prior to the date of such call. Said preferred stock shall stipulate that the owner thereof shall not by virtue of his ownership, be entitled to vote for directors or in any of the other affairs of this Corporation, and that they shall not participate in the earnings of this Corporation except to the extent of the par value of said stock and the dividend and redemption premium above stipulated. Said preferred stock shall, as its security, have priority and preference in the net earnings of this Corporation over its common capital stock. In case of liquidation or distribution of the assets of this Company the owner of this preferred stock shall be paid in full the total par value thereof, all accrued unpaid dividend thereon and plus a premium of three dollars per share to be paid upon the surrender of said stock, all such payments shall have priority and be paid before any payment be made on account of the common capital stock of this Corporation. The holder of said preferred stock shall have no right to notice of meetings of the directors or stock holders of this Corporation, and the certificates of said stock shall provide that the holder thereof agrees to all of its provisions. The said stock shall provide also that it is a part of an issue of preferred stock authorized by the charter of this Corporation, and that the holder thereof is entitled to receive and this Company is bound to pay, but only out of the surplus or net earnings of this Corporation, the par value thereof, the dividends and premium evidenced by this certificate at the rate and at the times therein stipulated.

Said certificate shall also stipulate that in the event of the calling or redeeming of this stock or a part thereof the directors of this Company shall determine by lot what shares are to be retired and notice thereof shall be given as above set out, and the shares so called shall have no further right to earnings after the date fixed for said redemption. All preferred stock so issued shall be forthwith delivered pro rata and equally to the legal holders of the common capital stock of this Corporation.

A certified copy of the resolution of the stock holders of said Corporation adopting the said proposed amendment is presented herewith.

Amendment to Charter of Incorporation of

KNOX GLASS BOTTLE COMPANY

Sections 4, 5 and 7 of the charter of incorporation of the Knox Glass Bottle Company, a Mississippi Corporation, are hereby amended to read as follows:

4. Amount of capital stock and particulars as to class or classes thereof:

2,000 shares of Preferred stock, par value $25.00 per share. Each share of preferred stock is preferred as to all assets over Common Stock; carries and entitles the owner to a cumulative dividend of 7% per annum on its par value, payable one-half semi-annually, out of the net earnings of the corporation, before any dividends are set apart or paid on the Common Stock; is subject to retirement by the Corporation at any time at 105% of its par value, plus the earned dividend thereon; and entitles the owner thereof on the books of the Corporation to one vote in all meetings and matters at or in respect to which stockholders of the corporation vote.

4,000 shares of Common Stock, par value $25.00 per share.

5. Number of shares for each class and par value thereof:

2,000 shares of Preferred Stock, par value $25.00 per share.

4,000 shares of Common Stock, par value $25.00 per share.

7. The purpose for which it is created:

To manufacture, buy, sell, distribute and deal in glass products of all kinds and any appurtenances thereto; and to erect, or buy, lease or otherwise acquire, real estate, manufactories, buildings, warehouses and depots for manufacturing and storing, buying, selling and dealing in glass products and appurtenances thereto:

To drill or mine for sand, natural gas, and/or oil for their own use and/or for sale to others, and to build, construct, lease, purchase or otherwise acquire buildings, machinery and any other apparatus necessary to carry on such operations.

To buy, sell, deal in, lease, hold or improve real estate or personal property incidental thereto or connected therewith, and with that end in view, to acquire, by purchase, lease, hire or otherwise, lands, tenements, hereditaments, or any interest therein, and to improve the same, and generally to hold, manage, deal with and improve the property of the Company and to sell, lease, mortgage, pledge or otherwise dispose of the lands, tenements, hereditaments, or other property of the Company; to construct, erect, equip, repair and improve houses, public or private roads, alleys, tramways, railroads, reservoirs, irrigation ditches, sewers and tunnels which may be deemed necessary for the improvement of the property of the Company; to make such other investments as the Board of Directors may deem wise in the interest of the Company.

In witness whereof, the President and the Secretary of the Knox Glass Bottle Company have hereunto set their hands and the seal of said Corporation at its office in Pearl City, Mississippi, on this the 15th day of February, 1935.

R. R. Underwood, President.
